Yearbook the way it oughta be!

it oughta be today's story and tomorrow's history.
it oughta be the most-loved book on campus.

it oughta be in focus.

it oughta be a time capsule about this school year.
it oughta have photos that tell great stories.

it oughta make you proud.

it oughta be a book about everyone.

it oughta be more valuable in ten years.

it oughta feature quotes, quotes and more quotes.

it oughta be different than last year's.

it oughta make you laugh (...and cry)

it oughta be the ultimate autograph album.

it oughta be something you can talk about with your college roommate.

it oughta be fun.

Yearbook staff members are among the busiest students in the high school. However, they do find time for other activities. Kristen pursues a swan at Sun Valley. Brooke shows off her riding ability in the summer parade. Dawn, Amber and Mary will work for... in Sun Valley and Tate is always looking for the great picture.

TALK

In a one stoplight town, most would think that Preston High School couldn't be that big! But what makes this high school unique is the students.

Schools can be made from cement and stone, but we are the bricks that piece our school together! We, as the foundation of PHS, donate our lives and personalities to each brick. We each have our own distinct style. For some it is to be a cowboy and others choose to be athletic but most of us are right in between. Regardless, we all contribute to the school's character.

Each individual that walks these halls has different thoughts and directions in life. For some everything comes easy; for others, it doesn't. Either way, we help each other. Strengthening ourselves as individuals, helps to strengthen ourselves as a whole. When we believe in ourselves, we can truly accomplish anything. The sky is the limit, no hill is too steep, there are no permanent boundaries to what we can achieve!

Now, step back and look. PHS is not just a brick building East of Main Street. It is a collection of different personalities cemented together as a whole! If these walls could talk, we'd be proud of the commitment and excellence that has been shown by all.

If These WALLS Could Talk...

If these walls of PHS could talk, what would they say? Would they tell us about your first day of school or would they tell us about Mr. Koch's first day? How about all the romances that have gone on? Would long time secret's be told? Would they reveal all the gossip and what you promised not to tell?

Would the walls tell us about disco fever? Or would they keep the wishes of our parents and keep silent about the time in their life? If the walls of PHS could talk they would tell us that life is hard and many times unfair, but within these walls we have the resources to make those times disappear.

The walls of this old building have seen and heard it all, and through this Quiver of memories, the walls of Preston High will speak their story to you.

Students manage to find many ways to show their school spirit. Jessy Olsen and Jenni Beckstead coordinate their backpacks to match PHS. (Photo by: Tate Castleton)

"Hey, I want that one!" Chancy Call pulls on Lee Crossley's backpack to....what? Pull him away from the candy machine? Support himself? Maybe he just wants to make sure they are never separated. (Photo by: Rosanna Pitcher)

You have to have a very strong back to carry your entire locker in your backpack. Lucas Beckstead shows his added strength by hanging assorted key chains from his backpack. (Photo by: Rosanna Pitcher)

Not only are backpacks good for carrying your books, they are good for showing off your tastes. Logos for music groups and brands of clothing show Jamen Henderson's style as he walks toward his next class. (Photo by: Rosanna Pitcher)

Big Time Challenges

It's a crazy world out there and you've got big time challenges, right? Okay, maybe minor dilemmas- like what to wear to school or where to eat lunch. The good thing about problems is that everybody has them! No one is alone! Some PHS students shared some of their problems with us. Katelyn Ballif gets frustrated when her friends act differently around guys, so she just goes off on her own. David Pitcher can not miss any more classes because in 3rd hour he has 7 absences. Jared Coburn must be pretty spoiled, "All I have to deal with is finding out why girls think I am lame." Shanna Jensen says that school and guys really get to her; but she says, "When I have stress in these areas I kick my dog." Matt Abrams deals with something that most of us won't experience - blindness. "I try my hardest and it it doesn't work; I ask for help and then we work it out." Kylie Kelly has to sleep with gloves on because her dog chews on her finger tips at night. Amazingly enough Adam Baird says he doesn't experience hardships in his life. The secret..."I just don't let things get to me."

Friends often have misunderstandings. Jordan Kerr, Kenny Inglet, and Cache Christensen show that a person has to show they care in some way. (Photo by: Rosanna Pitcher)

♀ Different Is Good

What are the differences between boys and girls? Ask a boy and ask a girl, and a person is likely to get two different answers. Whether it's relationships, driving, or personal hygiene, there are obvious differences between boys and girls. Some of those differences really get on your nerves, right? Randall Sorensen points out a very obvious reason he notices- their insurance is lower. It bothers Chelsey Wheatly when boys "nod their head instead of wave" while driving. Kelly Bennett thinks that girls always smell like fruit and John Cross bluntly says, "They smell funny." Caranna White doesn't think boys have any room to talk because, "up until eighth grade boys' personal hygiene is really bad. Then a lot of them wear so much cologne that it makes you sick just to be around them." Tyler Hatch has two words when it comes to girls and relationships- mood swings. Chris Proctor really believes that "guys always have to do what the girls want to do." Robyn Daley thinks that boys should just act their age. When you go to dump a guy, he does something to make you like him again or like him even more, is something that really bugs Shanna Jepsen about relationships. This wouldn't mean much to Jake Heaton because he says, "girls make as much sense as a new born gurgeling at me."

Things
to do after school

Michael Knapp: I play three sports a year. People think I am a jock but I am an athlete.

After The Bell Rings

3...2...1...BRRRIIIING!! The rat race begins. Students fight their way through the chaos to get their lockers. They rush down the hall to seek fresh air and sunshine. They become like monomaniacs seeking refuge from their daily routine. After school it is your choice on what it is that you do. Whether it is work or play everyone is doing something. Michael Knapp usually is practicing for some sport. "I play three sports a year. People think I am a jock but I am an athlete." Beth Bosworth, when not cheerleading, is either watching tv, running or eating. A person might find Melissa Randall doing nothing up until 5 p.m. but after that she is developing her biceps at the gym. Amber Dockstader's soap opera life begins when the bell rings, but once she finally gets home she "listens to country music, eats watermelon candy from OP Skaggs and talks to her best friend." Who just goes home and watches the Playboy Channel?...Bruce Hansen! Tyler Richmond skateboards because, "it is fun and difficult. Skateboarding attracts girls and is something that a person has to master." Dawn Hobley and Brooke Christensen both said, "I go home from school? Yeah, if the yearbook room can be considered a home." While Eric Britt is building jumps for his bike and riding on his track at his house Joe Cann is milking cows, hauling wood and doing other brute activities. Danielle Boettner comments on the nights she performs with the phidels. "I glob on the lipstick and snap on the ol' wig." Jon Rasmussen comments, "after hitting the weight room for several strenuous hours, I plop down in front of the playstation for a while just before the 'big date'." So, whatever you are doing after school, just play safe and wear your seatbelts.

By the looks on their faces, Ashley Thompson, Kandice Porter and Jessie Hansen each have their own opinions about the Colors' concert. (Photo by: Dawn Hobley)

PHS Trends

Fashion at PHS varies according to a person's personal taste. Some just don't care if their peers make fun of them or for some it just fits who they are. Walking down the hall a person will see many different styles of clothing, hair and etc, but those styles are not always consistent. Change is a major factor that PHS students deal with. A commonly asked question is: If you could look any way you wanted and still fit in, what would you look like? Here's what some students at Preston High had to say. Nate Fuller wouldn't change much. He would just let his hair grow and never cut it. Jed Webster would be black and have a jazz emblem tattooed across his chest. Kemberlee Poole would look like the women on all the exercise videos- "tight short shorts head band and matching bra-like top." Sarah Gleason thinks the same as many girls in Preston. It would be perfect for her if she could "wear pajamas everyday, not put on makeup, not do my hair, not wear shoes and not put in my contacts." Syd Harris would agree to that, but then again, she just might shave her head. Brady White would love to look like "a missionary from 1978, wearing loud clothes." Some students would like to look like someone else. Steve Baker would like to look like George Burns, Chase Cole like Will Smith and Jesse Keller like the Incredible Hulk. Scott Madsen thinks, "it would be cool if nobody wore clothes." Nick Sanchez has a very bold look he would like to try. "I would have four eyes, two noses, two mouths and four ears. My hair would be green and I would have alligators for feet." While change is an option, several students are happy looking just the way they are. For all those with ideas like Nick's...good luck.

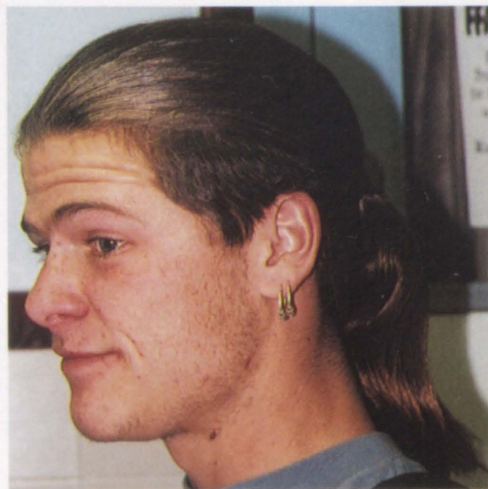

AJ Kellos must really look up to his older brother Jayson- if he could change his looks he would look like Jayson: have blonde hair, blue eyes, and more height. (Photo by: Jessy Olsen)

Φ DRESS UP DAYS!

One of the most anticipated things about Homecoming week is dressing up every day. The outfits worn by PHS students in front of their peers show their "true blue" school spirit. Some people prove that they love PHS with all their hearts!

This year, our dress up days and lunch time activities included:

Monday: PJ Day

Sleeping Bag Hop

Tuesday: Hat Day

Oatmeal Bob

Wednesday: Cowboy Day

Dummy Rope

Thursday: Disco Day

Volkswagon Stuff

Friday: Blue and White Day

"¡Hola, Paco!" That look on Joseph Klinker's face couldn't possibly be classified as a smile. Maybe the sight of Nate Christensen trying to be a chorus girl has left him a little wary.

Pajama Day is definitely a favorite of PHS students. Natasha Steadman and Shaylee Carter were very willing participants of this dress up day. (Photo by: Rosanna Pitcher)

In order to introduce the dress up days, 4 members of the Exec. Council model clothing representing them. Natalie Foster, Matt Hess, and Scott Holt had it pretty easy, but Shelby Schvaneveldt had to model for two days. Looking good, guys! (Photo by: Rosanna Pitcher)

THE ASSEMBLY!!!

In past years, the Homecoming Assembly has always been held on Friday, along with the parade. This year, however, the Exec. Council decided to hold it on Monday. The Exec. Council introduced the activities happening during the week, and they put on a few skits. The theme song dance was performed by Steve Kranbule, Jon Rasmussen, Mike Knapp, Rikki Leak, Whitney Ransom, and Sarah Steele. The cheerleaders were there to pump up the students, and then they were entertained by the Powder Puff cheerleaders. Nic Ransom, Audrey Yan, Dave Beckstead, and Rachel Robinson of the Ballroom Dance Team danced to "Stayin' Alive".

POWDER PUFF

Powder Puff is a time of role switching for many students at PHS. For once, the girls get to play football and the boys get to be the cheerleaders. We had to know what drives the girls to play as hard and with as much determination as the boys always do- and how the Seniors felt about beating the Juniors 32-14.

What did you love about playing Powder Puff?

Ellen Johnson- "I loved pushing girls around."

Emily Phillips- "Making people fall over."

Melissa Randall- "The thrill of taking down the Senior Team's QB three times!"

Amber Nielson- "Being intimidating!"

Kara Hansen- "We got in free!"

Lindsay Casperson- "Grunting, scratching, and acting like men!"

Nicole Benson- "I got to beat on the Seniors!"

Toni Hull- "It unified the girls in the Senior class!"

Amber Dockstader- "When Jenni Heusser knocked Kara Hansen into the air at practice."

Abbie Smedley- "Plowing the Seniors."

Carolyn Broadhead- "EVERYTHING, just finally getting out on the field and hearing the call for defense to hustle out and play."

While girls look forward to Powder Puff because of football, boys look forward to it because they like to dress up like girls and be cheerleaders! Doug Bowen proves our point very well here. You'd make a great girl, Doug! (Photo by: Tate Castleton)

HOMECOMING

The day begins with a morning or afternoon date. Then, the boys take the girls home to get ready, and finally, dinner and the dance.

What did you do for Homecoming?

Nicole Perry- "We went to Sherwood Hills and ate, then we went to the dance. After the dance we went to the Junior High and watched movies in one of the classrooms."

Tate Castleton- "We ate dinner at Dave Porter's house. A fortune teller came and we played 'Bigger and Better.' Then we went to the dance."

Ashley Thompson- "In the afternoon we went bowling and go-carting and then ate at Wendy's. Later, we went to Scott Madsen's grandma's house to eat, went to the dance, and afterwards we watched a movie."

David Bosen- "We went to breakfast at the Cabin Fever Cafe. For dinner we went to Coppermill, and then we went to the dance."

Tyson Titensor- "We played paintball during the day, and for dinner we went to Vince Castillo's house, then the dance!"

Beth Smith- "We ate at Main Street Grill and then went to the dance."

Alexis Chavarria- "We went to Gia's, and then played Ping-Pong, and then went to the dance."

Jason Abrams- "During the day, we went to the park and played Ultimate Frisbee and ate a 6-foot sub, and at night, we ate dinner at my house and then went to the dance. It was a last minute thing!"

Everything I need to know, I learned in ...

Abbie Smedley - "...Mr. Robertson's class. I learned every swear word in sign language!"

Jen Fuqua - "...Ms. Woodward's class. I learned how to spell."

Jared McKenzie - "...Mrs. Moser's class. I learned all the facts of life."

Mary Larson - "...Mr. Schvaneveldt's class. I learn every thing about everyone."

Gus Colin - "...Miss Weeks' class. She was my kindergarten teacher, and she taught me that putting my boogers on girls isn't right."

Emily McKenzie - "...Mr. Holyoak's class. He's a stallion and he teaches you everything you need to know about everything."

Stacey Bobka - "...Brother Gifford's class. He teaches the important stuff."

Chris Gordon - "...Mrs. Attwood's class. I learned the language of love."

Lindsay Casperson - "...Mr. Golightly's class. I learned four things: The easier it is, the harder it looks. Procrastinating causes much stress. There are many answers, but how you get them is the question. The older you get in life, the more you wish you had recess."

Class of 1999!

“What memories and attributes make the Senior class the best?”

Scott Holt “We may not have the most school spirit, and cheer the loudest at the ball games, but we are united and we’re together through victory and defeat.”

Toni Hull “There is no question that PHS students are above the rest, but the Seniors are the cream of the crop!”

Linda Gneiting “I think that the class of ‘99 is the best because we are it. We have helped each other through the tough times and have been there for the laughs.”

Beth Smith “Why is the class of ‘99 the best? What kind of question is that? Isn’t it obvious? It’s because of the people. Trevor Jensen, who made the DI beautiful; Bobby Moody, who always voiced his opinions; Andrea Bayles, the girl who is at every sporting event. Just face it- the whole senior class just ROCKS!”

Doug Bower “The leading scientists of the world comformed in the late 70’s in an unanimous decision to create a perfect graduating class by controlling all our parents to conceive and give birth to us for the purpose of creating utopian beings.”

Andy Hansen “I think the thing that makes our class as good as the rest is that we’ve learned and have been inspired by those who have come before.”

Michael Knapp “We touch on all aspects of life.”

“The Seniors are the cream of the crop!”

Class of 2000!

“What memories and attributes make the Junior class the best?”

Jonathan Porter “The best thing about the Junior class is that we’re the last of the old and the first of the new.”

Jami Wardell “We have so much talent, creativity, spirit, and colorfulness that we were obviously saved by nature to ring in the new Millennium.”

Thane Winward “We hit the ground running, losing a few to the temptation of rest. The race is still on and we will be the first to welcome second place.”

Tina Johnson “We know who we are and what we stand for.”

George Lundy “The class of 2000 is the foundation of the new century. We will dictate the world and pass our ways to new generations.”

Tate Castleton “Our grade can be sometimes very deceiving. We look as though we struggle, when in reality we soar.”

Jennifer McBratney “We’ve all found out that when we don’t stick together it all falls apart.”

Diana Hendricks “Our class is the most unique; starting from the first day of kindergarten when everyone was either creating a waterfall of tears or jumping up and down with joy to be away from Mommy and Daddy, all the way up to today.”

“When we don’t stick together, it all falls apart.”

“I can fly like an eagle...” says Jake Heaton, and Josh Rich says, “I can hitchhike all the way to California!” Football games are great places to be with your friends, support your school, and play sharades. (Photo by: Rosanna Pitcher)

Class of 2001!

“What memories and attributes make the Sophomore class the best?”

Marybeth Westerberg- “Our class has had many memories together. We are a class with a lot of individuality and class. We get along well together and every one likes to pitch in and help. That’s what makes the class of 2001 the best.”

Deserae Allred- “Being new and looking for friends, it was awesome to see everyone willing to share a kind word and involve me. Even though I’m not a Preston Indian from kindergarten, I can walk in the high school and have pride.”

Jessica Owen- “On that first day, I remember walking into class and seeing all these chubby little faces just like mine. After that I came to find out that they were just like me, human. That made things easier and we all started the climb that we’re continuing today.”

Jed Stewart- “Our class has a variety of people from jocks to skaters to band people to smart people to dumb people to popular kids to people you hardly even know exist. All of these people have something to offer this school, their class, and this country, no matter what their social status is.”

Colby Jensen- “We were the best kindergarteners because we were all geniuses. In 2nd grade we began to learn to be even smarter. In 3rd grade we were taught even more. In 4th grade our intellect went right down the drain. No one knew what happened; in fact, it’s still a scientific puzzle today. In 5th grade we relearned the process of counting on our fingers. In 6th grade we learned basic addition. In 7th grade we learned how to open our textbooks. In 8th grade we could finally dress ourselves. In 9th grade we could go to the bathroom by ourselves. This year it all came back to us and now we’re geniuses once again.”

“They were just like me; human.”

Class of 2002!

“What memories and attributes make the Freshman class the best?”

Heather Larsen- “Picture a sweet, innocent, loveable and choice group of young ladies and gentlemen for the class of 2002. Well, if you really believe that, you have no idea what you’re getting yourself into; the class of 2002 is wild, outgoing, amazing, and dangerously adorable. Just because we are sweet and little on the outside doesn’t mean that we don’t know how to have fun.”

Heather Buys- “As new kids have moved in, our class has welcomed them with open arms. Someone in our grade is always willing to lend a helping hand to someone who is struggling, whether it be in school, athletics, or just being there when they are needed. The class of 2002 overall is extremely talented and continues to climb the ladder of life and success.”

Eric Rasmussen- “A good thing for Freshmen is the wonder of censored toilets so upperclassmen can’t flush them. This enables us to only go through half the swirly procedure.”

Megan Gleason- “There are new stories being written, that we can ask to the old ones of our yesterdays. Some are funny, and some are sad. Others are unique in their own little way, making us special.”

John Broberg- “Do you see us going around and giving people swirlies? No, we’re the ones getting the swirlies!”

Kim Larsen- “You’ve heard the saying ‘Our children will be the next leaders of the world.’ If that’s true, we’ll all be in good hands when the class of 2002 arrives. We all have our own personal ideas and opinions on certain matters. We aren’t afraid to share them with each other and we support each other in the differences of opinions.”

Shauna Larsen- “Through the years we’ve gained more friends, we’ll stand valiant to the end. Helping and cheering on our peers, we have no fears. All the memories: ball games and our first “real” dance, we gave everyone a chance, to become what we were meant to be. We are the Freshman class, you see. Giving and sharing, crazy and fun, pulling together we are as one!”

“We’re the ones getting the swirlies!”

Computers 101

Everyday, computers are used for many important things. Different people appreciate different things, however. A man waiting for a flight home appreciates the airline computers. A cancer patient appreciates all the research materials available. A newspaper editor appreciates the design programs. Computers help everyone in some way, even indirectly, and even if they're in high school. PHS students had opinions about the most important computer functions.

Doug Bowen thinks that things on the Internet are pretty cool. Marybeth Westerberg says, "I love the new century of online shopping!" Vicky Porter thinks that "it's important that you can communicate with people all over the world, and it doesn't cost very much." Emery Winward loves the fact that the computer does some of his homework. Carson Campbell, claiming he isn't a "technology wizard," says, "Well, video games are fun!" "That Love Connection thing, where you put in two names and it computes the chance of love between them - that thing rocks!" says Scott Holt.

Annette Gleason uses SpellCheck frequently, and says that it's definitely the most important thing she is offered. "They give you access to information you couldn't otherwise get," is what Malia Crosland likes about computers. Landon Webb risks a little by saying, "They give me good grades - if I break into my teachers' computers." And finally, David Eskelson says, "I don't know what they do for anyone else, but they just confuse me!"

"I love to go shopping online!"

"Watch out, guys! This stuff is explosive!" Joseph Klinke warns the people around him. "Uh, Joseph, it's air." JD Seamons obviously isn't impressed with Joseph's jokes. (Photo by: Rosanna Pitcher)

Friends Forever

When you're in trouble and need someone to help you, you'll probably turn to one of your friends. Friends are the ones who see us through the bad times and the good times. Friends are always there when we need them. Webster's Dictionary defines a friend as "a person whom one knows, likes, and trusts; a close acquaintance." But, what makes a true friend?

Rachel Robinson - "A true friend is someone who includes you all the time and doesn't make fun of you...too much."

Misty Atkinson - "A true friend is trustworthy, fun, and faithful."

Chris Gamble - "A true friend is someone who you can mooch off."

Tyson Titensor - "A true friend is willing to buy you beer."

Jen Fuqua - "A true friend is someone that won't lie to you."

Janielle Reese - "A true friend is someone that looks deep inside and stands by you no matter what. They know you inside and out and treat you like a sister."

Jami Wardell - "A true friend is someone who lights up your life and helps you be who you want to be."

Amber Dockstader - "A true friend is someone you can take trips with and eat peanut butter sandwiches and cheese with. A true friend is someone who still loves you after you've been beaten with the ugly stick. And most important, a true friend is someone who promises to live with you and take care of your kids when you grow up."

"Okay, where are those girls?" Steven Krambule wonders. "Forget it Steve! They wanted me!" Trevor Jensen jumps in to correct his misinformed friend. (Photo by: Tate Castleton)

The Show Must Go On!

Have you ever been sitting in an auditorium, watching a play, and suddenly, something unexpected happens, and you know that it wasn't supposed to happen! The cast is usually paralyzed for a split second, wondering what they should do. While laughing is their first thought, they know that they can't do that during a production. We decided to ask cast members of past plays about the funniest thing they remember happening during a rehearsal or opening night.

Toni Hull remembered a time when, "there was supposed to be the sound of a gunshot, then I would die. Gary Hansen was the one shooting me, and when the shot was supposed to come, it didn't. Finally, he just said, 'Bang!' and I fell down. It really didn't have the same effect, but at the time, it was funny." Bethany Jensen couldn't help but laugh when she said, "Amber Roach kept mixing up the genders. She called the boys 'girls' and girls 'boys'." Keri Hinckley and her fellow cast members improvised a little when everything didn't go as planned. "We were doing a play and the phone was supposed to ring. We stood there and waited, and it wasn't ringing. So finally, someone said, 'Oh, did you hear the phone?' and we kept going."

Gary Hansen remembered all the practical jokes. "When we were rehearsing for Arsenic and Old Lace, Brayden McKenzie crawled into the window seat where they were supposed to hide the dead body. Dave Beckstead opened it at a time when there wasn't supposed to be anything and saw Brayden and freaked out! It was hilarious!" Melissa Woodward said, "This one time, Tonia Rawlings was hitting Josh Rich over the head with her umbrella, and she hit him so hard that the umbrella bent, and then she couldn't open it later."

"She kept mixing up the genders."

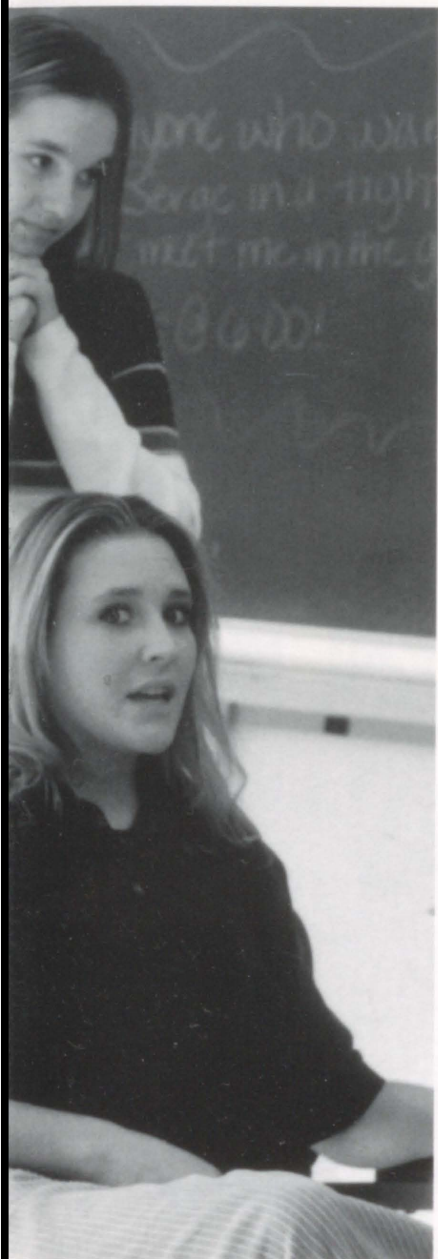

"No, No Amber, you need to stand over here." No play is any good without a good director. The fact that Mrs. Heers loves her job makes her an ever better director. (Photo by: Tate Castleton)

"It was this big," states Jacee Dunn. "No, it was this big," Laurel Larsen says. Goldie Chaney just looks at them- she's not taking sides. (Photo by: Tate Castleton)

Assemblies

Every year, our #1 reason for getting out of class is to attend assemblies. The Executive Council does an amazing job of planning, preparing and pursuing them, but everyone has an ideal assembly that, in their minds, would make the entire year rock. Wanting to know some ideas PHS students had for their 'Ideal Assembly,' we asked around. This is what we came up with.

Landon Stone would have, "a lot of fireworks, smoke, fire, and monkeys- on ropes. They would swing across the whole auditorium making monkey noises." Mike Knapp said, "Well, first of all, my assembly would last all day. We would all go watch 'Thursday Night Thunder' at Steven Krambule's house. Then we'd watch 'Mud and Thunder!'" Ellen Johnson would have her assembly in the gym, and it would just be a dance all day long. She'd have cool DJ's and awesome rap music. Zeb Petterborg would like an assembly based on Women's Mud Wrestling. He said, "I'll volunteer my services and be a judge!"

Brent Jorgensen said that he would plan an assembly on Computer Engineering - something cool that he could learn from, too. Scott Madsen wants to plan a, "Competitor's assembly - mud wrestling, boxing, whatever! And it will take place on the stage." What Doug Bowen has in mind could be a little scary. "Exotic occupations, baby - with entertainment, of course." And Megan Anderson, thinking only of pleasing the female population of Preston High, said, "We'd have a joint assembly with Mountain Crest and Skyview, and we would have a contest for the Calendar Boys of 2000. Then we'd make the calendar and sell it at games!"

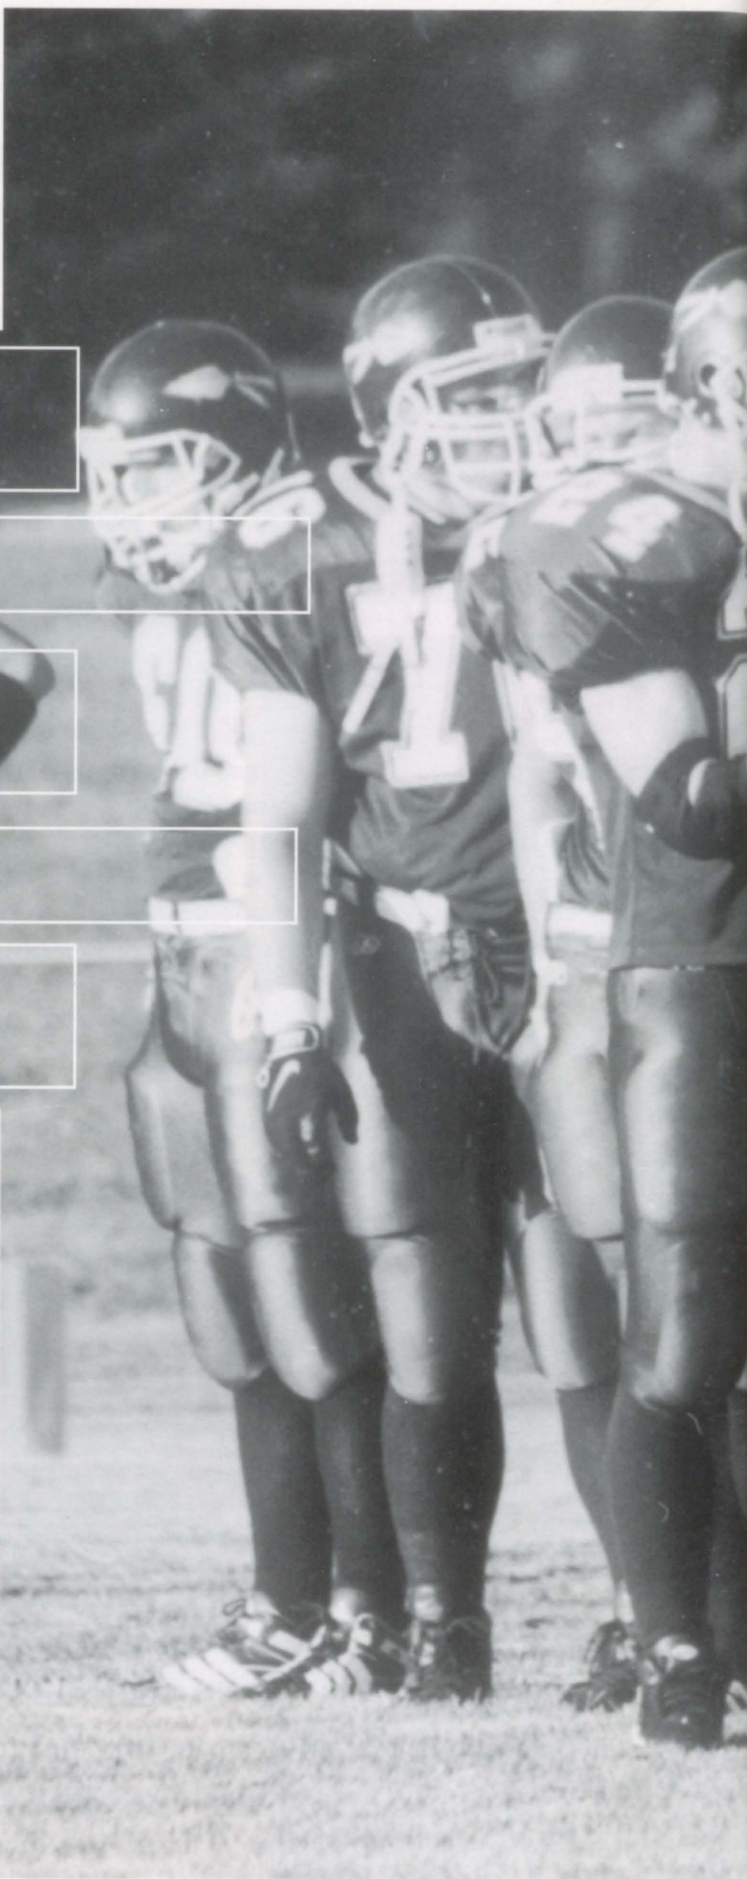

Someday, maybe we'll all have the opportunity to have these things happen, but for most, these dreams will stay just that - dreams!

"Monkeys on ropes, making noises!"

Not satisfied with the amount of sleep he got the night before, Nic Ransom climbed up on the stage, reclined on the chair, and fell into a deep sleep...or maybe he was under hypnosis so completely during the hypnotist assembly that he is actually comfortable in that position. # CROSS COUNTRY

...Ready- Set- Run!...

Both of the Cross Country teams know that once you start running you can't stop until the finish line. But since running for 20 minutes isn't exactly that easy, they have to have something to think about. We all know the story of the little train that said, "I think I can, I think I can!" So we asked our Cross Country team what they say or think to themselves in order to keep running.

Elissa Boer is totally out there for competition. She tells herself, "Dont give up, you can beat that girl in front of you!" Carolyn Turner just starts to the remember that great feeling of when it's all over. "I talk to myself in Spanish so that I won't say anything negative to myself," is what Crystal Golightly said.

There's always those plain and simple sayings too. Jonny Steele just keeps saying, "It'll end, It'll end, keep going, It'll end!" Michael Pariona just knows that if those guys see him stop, that they'll kill him!

After a long, tiring Cross Country meet, Clay Kaufman demonstrates the musts - Bare feet, and Gatorade! (Photo by: Tate Castleton)

Only whimps stop, so keep going," is what keeps David Nielson says to keep up and running to the finish line.

Joanna Fullmer doesn't necessarily think about the race itself, she puts her mind on other things, and lets the race sort them out for her. Dave Beckstead has an interesting thought! He just tells himself that it's a beautiful day! Whitney Ransom gets a song into her head, and then tells herself that she can do anything for 20 minutes, and that she's not tired at all!

There are many things that keep each member of the team going, but there's nothing quite like the first team cheer. Most of the team agreed that their motivation cheer is "Pack attack Aaagghhhh!" We don't know exactly what that means, but it helped the Cross Country team have a great year.

...Down, Set, Hut...

Looking back at their last football season in high school, some seniors told their memorable experiences.

Michael Knapp thought the first home game was memorable and very intense. Matt Rasmussen along with others think the locker room before and after a game was memorable. What exactly goes on in there?

Dennis Shumway looked at the year a little differently by saying, "the most memorable experience of this year was the day it got over!"

Chance Burns remembers in the first scrimmage Bobby Moody stormed off mad. Shawn Kurek sums it up by saying, "the whole season was pretty much memorable." Others think when they got their first tackle or touchdown was something to remember. Chad Tueller thought when he got a sack in the game was something he would grow up and tell his grandsons. Then there is Jared McKenzie who thought, "one bus ride home was memorable because I was so depressed after we lost a game I just couldn't stop thinking about it and it made me upset to my stomach, the next thing I knew I had Peucked all over. Depression does crazy things to you when it means so much."

David Woolley commented that in the summer at the U.S.U. football camp was a lot of fun because the team got to know each other a little better.

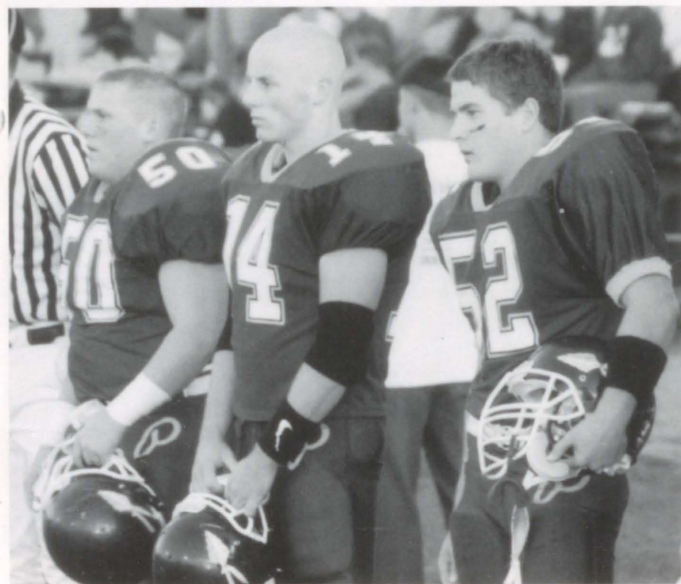

Coach Holyoak prepares the special team unit before they take the field. Coach was a new addition this year and PHS benefitted. (Photo by: Mr. Hansen)

There was many memorable events that took place both on the football field and off, but the thing they will always remember is the talent they gained and the friendships they formed.

Coach Kluss commented, "The most amazing thing I have ever seen in a varsity football game was in the first game when we fumbled eight times and lost all eight. I have never seen that happen before and I hope I never will see it happen again.

On a more positive note the most memorable thing I will remember about this team is the leadership the seniors gave us throughout the season. Even though we did not make the play offs, this team will hold a special place in their coaching staffs heart. I felt we had a successful year that with a few breaks our way could have been much more of a success as far as wins and losses go. However, these young men will be a success in their future endeavors, that I'm sure is true."

J.V. Football

Superstitions in sports are very common. The Junior Varsity team depended highly every game on their superstitions for good luck. Does having a superstition for good luck really work?

Jordan Moser seems to think his superstition works, he has worn the same shirt in games for three years. Kaleb Johnson uses a family tradition for his superstition, "I write the number forty three (43) on my chest because that was the Johnson number, all my cousins and brothers wore it."

Nick Neeley has a simple superstition, he wears an arm band for good luck. However, some people like Colt Burns and Matt Shumway don't rely on superstitions, they just play the game. Some of the football players do not wash their shirts, and some don't wash their socks, no wonder the locker room stinks so bad. Aaron Hull's superstition is, "I wear my lucky camoflauge shirt in every game." Andy Lyons just listens to music before every game to get pumped up. Superstitions are a very mental thing, some depend on superstitions a little too much. If they have a bad game with one superstition they try something else until they have another bad game.

Football is a very physical sport. At times it could get rather tiring. Running down the 100 yards, while pushing people around and diving for the ball. You have to create some strategies to pump yourself up to keep going and not give up. We asked the Freshman team what they say or do to keep themselves pushing hard in those long hard hot practices or games. Dan Beckstead said, "I tell myself to do it for the team and if I do my best we will win."

Clayton Kerr reminds himself how much fun he is having, and it will be worth it in the end. Yance Bosen has a different philosophy of why to keep going, "if I stop I will get run over," he replied. Jordan Cox along with Ethan Lucia both think if they push hard in practice it will be worth it in the game. The key must be to push hard in the game and in practice.

Austin Hollingsworth sounded like he dreaded practice until an exciting play happens then it renews his strength to go back at it hard. Whatever the freshman football team tells themselves, it must have worked to have a 5-2 finish!

VARSITY VOLLEYBALL

...Bump, Set, Spike!...

When a fast, white, round ball comes flying at your face, you obviously don't have much time to think about what to do.

Megan Henrichs said, "I'd get six-packed before I even got my hands up!" Stacey Bobka makes it easy, and just tells herself to, "Go!!!!!!!" Now Ashley Thomson isn't all that worried about getting the ball over the net, she just says to herself. "I hope I don't break a nail!"

When asked what team they'd love to beat, most of them agreed that it was always a pleasure to beat Bear Lake. And their dreams came true towards the end of the year at the state tournament. When asked about state, and some of the interesting things that happened while they were there, Coach Moser came back a proud woman! They went up there to win. They never just talked about doing their best. They go to win. "We focused practices all year on beating Bear Lake." Commented Coach Moser.

"There were many things that I was proud of too." said Moser. "The never say die attitude, not one ball hit the ground without a lot of bodies after it. They made some unbelievable saves. We had a great team effort, and especially from the bench. They were so supportive, and helpful. Our players had great sportsmanship, and great leadership of the 3 captains, Megan Henrichs, Julie Harris, and Kelsey Leonard."

Also, while up at state, they just couldn't have fun without funny things happening. They had a big Halloween party, and some great costumes to go along including Amanda Egbert acting as a ditsy cheerleader, and Julie Harris, and Amy Boer as Esmerelda, and the Hunchback.

But it still comes back to the fact that they played their hardest the whole weekend, along with the whole year, and came back with 2nd place at state this 98-99 year.

Even though being on a sports team in highschool is hard, and takes a lot of work, it's also a lot of fun.

The J.V. team had a great year with a record of 17-6. We asked them what they would remember most about being on the volleyball team this year?

Roni Bowman said that she'd remember when they had to scrimmage the varsity team, and lose, and then they'd have to do tons of stuff for them! "I will always remember how I hurt my shoulder on the second day of practice, and I'll also remember teaching Nikie Galloway how to do cartwheels, it was hilarious!" commented Kaydee Fryar. Natalie Foster also remembers when Kaydee hurt her shoulder, because it was the first time that I ever saw her cry! MaryBeth Westerberg will always remember those long bus rides, and how much all of them ate while on the bus.

But one of the most important things is what Jennifer Stevenson will always remember. "I'll remember how good of friends we all became from being part of the team."

...Set it up...

Your Freshman year can make a lot of difference on the rest of your highschool sporting career, and it's a lot of fun.

We asked the Freshman, who on their team during a hard practice lighten's it up, and keeps everyone going?

Jennie Parker and Tanya Bird both agree that Tina Russom tends to make everyone keep trying, by saying positive things. But some others look at it in a different way. "Torrie Smith makes us laugh by playing with all of the Phi-Del flags," says Kellie Tobler. She told that to be one of the team's personal jokes.

Tracie Moser claims that Ashley Harris makes practice fun just by acting dumb. Ashley pretty much agree's by saying, "I'm the one who's usually never affected by the bad mood." Tiffani Doney makes it simple, "Tracie Moser, just because she's always happy!"

Some of them were new comers to the freshman volleyball team this year, but all the same they had a great record of 17-2.

GIRLS BASKETBALL

...Indians all the way...

Even though they've been playing highschool ball four years, our varsity girls basketball team still have those little things that make them nervous before the game.

"It gets me really nervous when I just sit and think about all the 'what if's' that could happen," said Roni Bowman. But Lindsey Paskins gets worked up about what the J.V. team did. "It stresses me out if they had a really close game," she replied. "Just thinking about the upcoming game itself," comments Penny Johnson, "That's what makes me nervous!"

On the other hand, Amanda Jo Egbert gets nervous by looking in the stands and seeing her 'hot man!' "I want to make sure that I look alright for him!" she said. Megan Henrichs said, "I don't really get that nervous, I have confidence in my team's ability to win!"

When Coach Jeff Sessions was asked about this years district tournament, it sounded like he was very pleased.

"Considering the tradition of Preston girl's basketball and the talent we had on this year's team, a third place finish is very disappointing. I am happy with the fact that we played our best basketball of the season in the tournament, and we gave two of the top teams in the state a very competitive fight. I am also very pleased with the effort of the girls. Every member gave all effort possible to the team and the team goals. I was especially pleased with the senior leadership. They accepted the underclassmen as equals and I feel the Junior and Sophomore members responded with unusually enthusiastic effort. There seemed to be a strong sense of friendship among the players.

Although our season record was 14-10, nearly every loss was by a small margin. I really appreciated the way the girls never gave up. Even if we got far behind, we always battled our way back into the game, losing 4 games by 2 points or less.

Some the the fun memories of this season were: Our joke telling sessions in the back of the bus, the bouncy seat, the team all-night party, the senior-freshman interviews, and watching Rocky I, II, III, and IV to get 'pumped up!' It was always great listening to Amanda Egbert, and everyone wondering 'Is she for real?'"

Four to five, two hour practices, along with one to two games a week takes a lot of dedication. In spending that much time on one activity it has to have some effect on your life.

When the J.V. girls basketball team was asked how this year has helped them get ready for their life ahead, they gave some answers that definitely show dedication.

Nikie Galloway said that it helps her face the challenges ahead of her. "It helps me manage my time, and get along with others," replied Amanda Nelson. Jennifer Stevenson states, "it has made me realize that life is not fair or easy!" Kristine Marler said, "It takes a lot of commitment, and helps me overcome my fears."

Coach Wade Schvaneveldt said, "It was exciting to watch the team improve throughout the year. As a coach you always want your team to be playing its best ball at the end of the year, and this team was definitely doing that. It will be fun watching them develop and improve throughout their basketball careers. This year's team is also a great group of young ladies to be around. Whether it was Pookie (Jennifer Stevenson) doing her panther/dog act, or Becky Shaffer acting like a linebacker on that poor Marsh Valley player, there was always something to laugh about." Our J.V. team this year had an 8 - 12 record.

Freshman Basketball

...Make that shot...

When preparing for a game, it is somewhat stressful. No matter what technique you use, everyone has some certain way of relieving their stress. We asked the freshman girls what they do that night before their game to reduce stress and their techniques must work pretty good for them.

Tina Russom said, "I meditate, listen to music, and KEEP BUSY!" But Tanya Bird might have a better idea, "I just forget about the whole thing." Ashley Harris said that all she has to do is, "EAT!" and it makes her feel a lot better. Tracie Moser quotes, "I try not to think about it, but just in case I do, I always have something in mind that I could do."

"I listen to my heavy metal songs, it gets me hyper," said Shana Jepsen. Heather Buys has an interesting way of getting relief, "I spin around in circles until I get dizzy, and fall down, then I get up and try to run after Tanya and Shana!"

Well no matter how the freshmen get rid of their stress, it must have worked with a record of 9-11.

BOYS BASKETBALL

...Blue Shoot For Two!...

The varsity team has put in a lot of hard work and hours this year to finish with their 14-6 record. Playing sports in High School takes a lot of dedication, but you get more out of it than exercise. We asked some of the varsity players how they think athletics help them prepare for the rest of their life. Bailey Beckstead says, "You learn a lot about working hard and working with other people." Chad Tueller also thinks you get more out of it by saying, "athletics gives you confidence and the chance to bond with teammates, this will help you later in life."

Byron VanOrden comments, "It prepares you for getting yelled at by your boss or whoever will yell at you." Mike Womack replies to the question with the word discipline. Discipline is a big part in the game of basketball AND the game of life. Scott Holt has a different way of looking at sports, "It gives me the drive to get through school. It gives me something to look forward to everyday. To succeed in life and school you must enjoy it, and I enjoy sports."

Nick Hyde along with Joe Larsen agree that athletics help to work with a team and deal with problems. Andy Hansen sums it up by saying, "It teaches you discipline and a sense of comradery that school or anything else cannot prepare you for."

Coach Pratt thought the '98-'99 basketball season was a success.

Scott Holt slides past his defender with a look of relief on his face. Scott was one of the six seniors that ended his high school career this year. He was a vital part to this years team. (Photo by: Tate Castleton)

He stated his thoughts, "The team had their ups and downs. They started with success and went through a few games we weren't able to do what was necessary to win. However; we learned much about life during the stretch. We learned to battle, even though adversity happens, and the most important thing was to believe in each other and the team. We found out if we stayed together that it all seemed to work out. The competition is stiff and you have to be ready to play every night. That gives us a great sense of accomplishment. The players are a hard working group and they never give up as evidence by the close wins that we have had so far this year. This group has improved themselves as players but most importantly as quality young men, of whom I am very proud of and have grown to love each of them very much. These young men have put forth a great effort and are dedicated to our school and to the sport of basketball."

...Rebound that basketball...

The junior varsity teams goals are to make it to the top and play varsity ball someday. They all have goals they set to reach that goal which means hard work and a love for the game. The J.V. team was asked who has always been their athletic idol or someone they would like to play like. Joe Larsen would like to be like his brother Darrin who played in 1989 and 1990 and won state both times.

Ben Stocks replied, "Michael Jordan because he was the one who got his team into the game and people don't think so, but he was a good team player and defensive player, he also has made game winning shots." Sean Stewart would like to go on to play ball like John Stockton. "He sees the court so well and makes such cool passes, he also knows how to score." Matt Shumway agrees with Sean, but he likes him because he is down to earth and doesn't care how much money he earns.

There was a wide variety in the team of athletic idols, Jed Webster would pick Barry Sanders because he is so fast and has so many moves. Jesse Wilcox thinks Dennis Rodman, "He is the BEST player in the NBA."

...two points more...

This year's freshman team coached by Coach Kluss was told many different phrases many different times. Austin Hollingsworth will always remember Coach Kluss telling him, "I can't shoot for you." That made Austin realize he is the shooter and no one can make points for him. Brady Keller remembers the coach yelling at him day after day to get rebounds.

Several of the freshman team agree when they say they will remember for their whole life, coaches telling them, "Everyday in every way we are always getting better." Tyler Smith doesn't have only one phrase that sticks out in his mind, but replies nothing is worse than when you know you did something wrong and the coach doesn't say anything just stands there with his arms folded in disappointment."

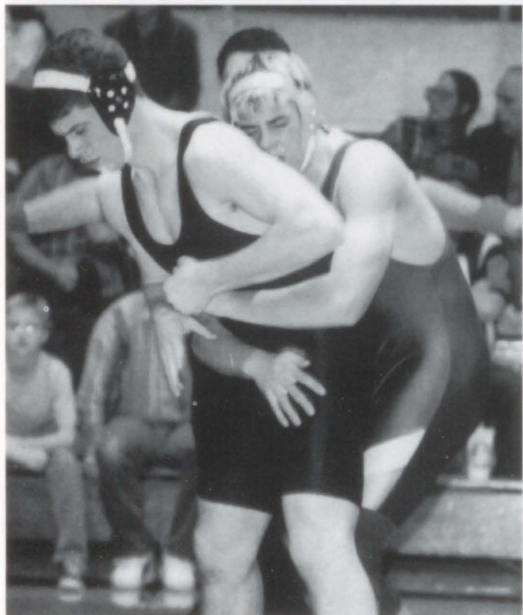

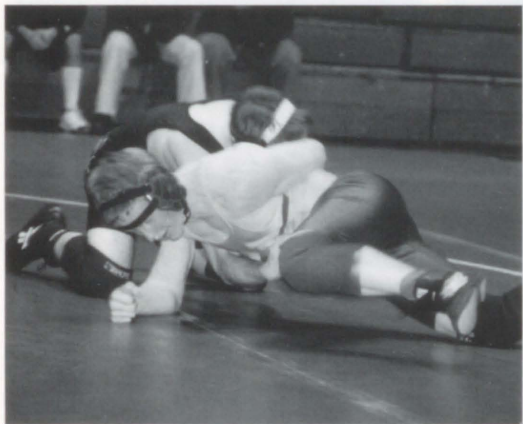

Whether words or actions from the coaches the team takes them into heart and pushes their hardest to terminate and to do their best. The words the coaches say day after day will be something the team will remember their whole life to live and abide by in the game of life likewise the game of basketball.

Dean Kramblue, like many of the wrestlers, got hit in the nose a little too hard, is the reason for the cotton up his nose. However, no matter what Dean keeps battling against the Malad wrestler, and he will go to the end no matter what the outcome may be. (Photo by: Rosanna Pitcher)

Wrestling

...Roll 'em over pin them flat...

Endure to the end is words often heard in the Preston wrestling room. We asked the wrestlers what they tell themselves when they are falling behind how they endure to the end. Josh Bowcut tells himself, "I will feel like a pansy if I get pinned." Steve Baker has a good attitude by thinking, "This guy is as tired as I am, but I want it more." Anthony Handy and Jason Spackman agree by saying, "I have got to win no matter what." Johnny Steele doesn't care about the outcome of the match just as long as he does his best and finishes strong.

Doug Miller has a different philosophy about why to endure to the end. "Look at all those girls, they are going to cry if I lose!" Seth Haslam, wrestling in the heavy-weight division, tells himself, "If I don't keep battling then that fat guy I am wrestling will sit on me." Will Sharp replies, "It's going to hurt and I'll be tired after the match anyway so I might as well tough it out and feel the exhilaration of victory." Deric Butterfield thinks three words to keep himself going, "Kick his trash!"

Coach Holyoak thinks that, "This wrestling season has been one of refinement. We started as a group improven, and we have allowed ourselves to be molded into successful competitors. The success of our season is formed in our refinement, not only by the level of excellence we have obtained. One of the best things to watch this year was watching the boys turn into men."

Coach Higley replies to the season with, "This year has been a lot of fun. We have seen some great success along with a few disappointments. The highlight of this season so far has been winning the Preston Invitational Tournament and beating Snake River in a duel meet 31-24. The best thing about this season has been working with the greatest kids you could ask for, and also two very talented coaches Robbie Gunter and Jamie Holyoak."

Coach Gunter said, "One of the most memorable experiences is how this team has overcome inexperience and adversity. To come together as a great team We have wrestled the best from Idaho, Utah, and Wyoming, and battled them. It has been very enjoyable to work with such fine young men. This team has great character and they are winners on and off the mat."

Coach Gunter is doing his job very well. Instead of a water bottle to give Kasey Keller a drink, he is using a spray bottle. Kasey wouldn't want to gain that extra weight drinking a big gulp of water, so he sprays his mouth to get the same effect. (Photo by: Rosanna Pitcher)

Marching down the streets of Preston, each with their right foot raised and stepping with their left, the Phi-Dels are in perfect sync together. # Phi-Dels

Switch leaps and toe-touches

"Getting up in the morning, watching what you eat, and getting those stupid hair pieces in," Lacy Lewis plainly tells everyone what she doesn't like about Phi-dels. We've heard it before. Except maybe the part about the hair, but with all the trials of Phi-dels comes the triumph.

Maybe being a dancer in high school will help their dreams come true. Afton

Hollingsworth and Miranda Greene both want to dance on Broadway. Danielle Boettner would want to dance at a NFL football game half-time show. Which is interesting considering that most of the Phi-dels hate football half-time performances. Lacey Moser said, "I hated Homecoming, too cold! It was h*~#! Pure h*~#!" Emily McKenzie said she would like to have, "a horror movie theme, because I love horror movies!" E'leesha Benson had a completely different idea, she wants cartoons for the theme of Homecoming. Lorilee Hutchins thinks the 60's would be awesome.

Courtney Dursteler
Phi-Del Advisor

Jessie Hansen

"I tried out because I love to dance, and I wanted to be involved with this group!"

Annie Bergquist

"I have wanted to be a Phi-Del all of my life, since my mom has always said I had a Phi-Del Smile!"

Lindsay Burnett

"I'm like a toe touch, because they are high and hyper-extended!"

Cheerleaders

Go! Fight! Win!

Kristi Abrams and Shelby Schvaneveldt are mounted and enjoying themselves during the rodeo parade! The tradition for the cheerleaders is still going strong! (Photo by: Mike Hansen)

Kayrene Clevenger
Cheerleader Advisor

Preston High students stand screaming for their team. Who guides this wild bunch? The cheerleaders of course!

Pep rallies, posters, and spirit week help get us excited and get our teams pumped and ready to play. "Pep rallies are our favorite part of cheerleading!" said J.V. cheerleaders BreAnn Bowman and Hannah Higley

Cheerleaders also have to learn cheers, practice stunts, work on dances, the list goes on and on. "Despite what everyone thinks, cheerleading is really hard and it takes a lot of work," is what Misty Monson has to say about it.

Then why do they do it? Beth Bosworth said, "I love going to the games and camps because we become closer together!" Jessica Reese had this to say, "Its fun, and it keeps my mind off other things!" Lexi Johnson just likes it because, "We are all best friends!" But when it came right down to it they all agreed that they love representing PHS because their number ONE!!!

Kristi Abrams

Janielle Reese

"The thrill and excitement of representing our school, and being able to show off your manly muscles with Lexi!"

BAND

Making Music Together

Its 6:50 a.m. the sun is beginning to rise and out on the football field stands the band. Its early, its cold, its hard work. In the words of Jordan Kerr, a junior, "Band is like chocolate cake, its good at first, but after a while you get sick of it."

So if band is so much work and easy to get sick of why are so many people still in it? According to Jill Tanner, a Freshman, she is in band for one reason only, "To get a scholarship and I guess because my parents make me!" Jon Steele, also Freshman, puts it just plain and simple, "cuz it's just fun!"

Others found the music enough of a reason to stay in the class. Junior Syd Harris said, "Tooting is what I do best!" "I want to share my talent with the world," is what Josh Abrams, a sophomore, had to say.

Janice Noyes, a junior, said, "I'd trade out but I love making music and I'm not going to let anything or anyone stop me!"

Linda Stamer
Band Instructor

Holly Oliverson- 11
"I just love making music! It calms me down when I'm upset."

Alison Bobka- 10
"I joined band in 6th grade because it sounded like fun. And it was!"

Choir

Making Music Together

Paul Seare
Choir Instructor

Why do so many like to perform in the choir?

"I like performing better than practicing. When we get in front of people we sound a lot better than when we are not," said sophomore Shanna Jensen. "I enjoy performing because of the 'adrenaline rush' I get right before I go on!" Stated Doug Miller, a sophomore. According to Natalie Foster, also a sophomore, she loves to perform because, "I forget the words and just stand there and smile!"

To get into one of the choirs, students must try out. "I thought I must be a really good singer because I made it into choir, then I started going through puberty. Now my voice cracks all the time," said junior Justin Cox.

The funniest thing is, "Trying to figure out who Mr. Seare is looking at," commented Mike Knapp. Beth Smith, admits that when Mr. Seare is yelling at them she tries not to burst out laughing. Natalie Foster shares with us, "Once Mr. Seare got so mad that he slapped the piano and all the music went everywhere! We were trying to contain ourselves!"

Mary Winn- 10

"Singing and music have always been a big part of my life. And this is a way of expressing it."

Kaydee Fryar- 10

"Choir is a great opportunity to enhance your talent in music and have fun at the same time. Singing is my very favorite thing to do."

Bailey Beckstead- 12

"I've been in choir four years, each year the choir has improved. I've been on many trips and had many experiences that have left me with a lot of great experiences."

This year intermediate choir had no boys, so the women did without and did it successfully! They were excused several times to practice with the Mens chorus throughout the year. (Photo by: Rosanna Pitcher)

When the word "Choir" is mentioned, people usually think of Acapella. But there are many other choirs, including Men's and Women's chorus, plus Intermediate choir. Here Women's chorus and Intermediate choir are singing a number together during their concert. (Photo by: Rosanna Pitcher)

We've all know that in ballroom dance the boys lift the girls, but how often do you see the girls lifting the boys? (Photo by: Tate Castleton)

Jesse Wilcox twirls Ashlee Peterson under his arm. Or maybe he just lifted his arm and she went under, Jesse looks a little too tired to be dancing. (Photo by: Tate Castleton)

Ballroom

Our Own Fred and Gingers

"One, two, cha, cha, cha! Three, four, cha, cha, cha!" This is one of the phrases heard by the ballroom dance team at 6:30 a.m. every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday. How do they deal with getting up that early, that often? Ashlee Peterson said, "I don't, I'm always late." Rosanna Pitcher replied, "I go to bed at 9:30, and eat my Wheaties!" Wheaties are good, but Tosha King says, "I get a sugar rush every morning!"

With all that practicing it only figures that each performance is practically perfect. Practically, K'Lyn Griffeth remembers a time when things didn't go so perfectly. Jesse Wilcox and her were in the middle of a performance and a string from the cape started to unravel. Pretty soon K'Lyn was tied up to the cape and they were supposed to drop it and go on, but it wouldn't come off. The audience members had to rip it off her. If you think that is bad, Brooke Harrison has a story to tell about practice. "One time I forgot to tuck in my shirt. I was lifted up, and needless to say, I was upside down and my shirt was around my neck! I just flashed everybody!" Nate Christensen told us the worst thing that happened to him was when, "After a performance, an A. Koch, wait that is too obvious, an Alfred K. came and told him what a wonderfully horrible job he did."

Tonia Rawlings

"For the guys! For Tom Fullmer & Bill Swann"

David Porter

"Its the chicks, its all about the chicks!"

Mike Knapp

"I'm in ballroom because I'm a stud, and I do everything!"

Webmasters

Future Is Now!

The Webmasters of PHS recieved two awards for their web pages. Their Awards are:

Education World's Cool School of the Week

week of December 14, 1998

Discovery Channel School Spotlight

week of March 15, 1999!

This is a big accomplishment for a first year class and opens the door for next year.

PHS is graced with students that design web pages for the school district and the city!

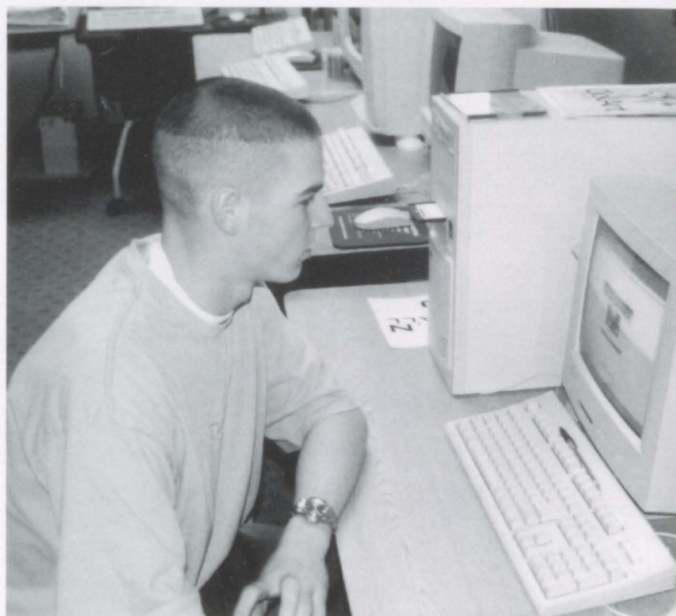

"I think the hardest thing in developing a web page is thinking of what to put on it, how to organize it, and having it meet Wad's (Mr. Schvaneveldt) requirements!" was the comment from Robin Daley. Sandi Johnson admits that the hardest is, "having patience because Wad can be a real grouch!!!" Speaking for many students in the class, Lindsey Shumway said,

"How to do things over and over. Patience is a virtue!" For Mary Larsen it is, "How and where the heck to save everything!!! I still don't know!!!"

When asked to apply their lives to a web page, Bethany Busath answered, "Thank goodness for the undo button!" "My life is like a web page, it's out there but nobody know where it is," was the remark from Ike Iverson. Describing the class in just three words, Jared Ross explains, "Just plain LOOPY!" As for Shannon Clark, "NOT ANY HOMEWORK!" According to Mr. Schvaneveldt, he describes the class as, "Interactive, Eccentric, and Entertaining!"

For anyone that knows Andy Hansen, otherwise known as Web Master, know that he spends most of his time in front of the computer creating the content and design of the districts web pages. (Photo by: Tate Castleton)

"It gives me the opportunity to design my own web page and put pictures of me on the Internet for all of your enjoyment!"

Robin Daley

"Because I like working with computers & I like taking computer classes at school. Also Wad asked me to!"

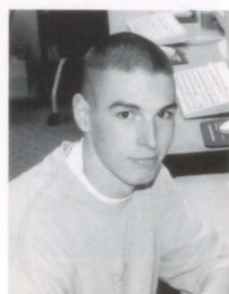

Ike Iverson

"To learn more about web pages!"

Sandi Johnson

"Because I like working with computers and it's fun!"

Andy Hansen

"At first my dad made me do it last year, but now I've come to the realization that chicks dig people called "Webmaster!"

Aca Deca

District Champions Again!

Winning its eleventh straight Southeastern Idaho Regional Championship, our Academic Decathlon team has given PHS a lot to be proud of. The team brought home two trophies, a team and superquiz, and 36 individual medals. Josh McNeely, Kristi Buys, and Dani Bowles led the team with five medals a piece. Lexi Johnson, John Pariona, Serge Ballif, Dani Bowles, Kristi Buys, and Josh McNeely all were given the award of Top Decathlete.

So how did it feel to go into a competition defending such a long title? Lexi Johnson said, "It was really scary before we won district. A lot of pressure. It was a big relief when we won." Dani Bowles agreed when she said the scariest thing about Aca Deca is, "The pressure to keep up the winning tradition, they expect you to know so much!"

But John Pariona says that the scariest part was actually, "Having my fly down when I give a speech!" This all sounds scary, but if you ask Chris Crockett he will tell you, "Remember what your team number is and the rest is a cinch."

Brooke Harrison

"We worked so hard and I am glad we won district and we are excited to go to State!"

Trevor Jensen

"I'm sick tired of girls noticing me only for my 190 lb chiseled physic. I have a personality too. Girls will notice me for my brains."

Serge Ballif

"The best part of Aca Deca is playing Jeopardy, to learn all the new information!"

I.N.E.E.L.

Super Geniuses

If you have ever walked down the hall after school and noticed beeps, screams, and laughing you were probably there on a day I.N.E.E.L. is practicing. What are those noises?

Matt Hobson said, "We just sit there and play with the buzzers." So that explains the buzzes. What about the screams? Patrick Bodily explains, "The hardest things about I.N.E.E.L. are Pace's punches and getting whacked in the head with a buzzer!"

If everyone is getting hit, whose laughing? Pace Jepsen might be, "Mr. Williams is a great guy. He gives me candy so Doug and I won't hit the other team members." Or maybe the laughter, is Mr. Williams himself, Trevor Jensen tipped us off that, "Mr. Williams is a member of the 'Send Fidel Castro to the Whitehouse' club. He feeds us full of communist propoganda. He says it is for political questions." Maybe he is communist, we were also told that he beats them all with a stick. Well even if he does, it must not be too hard, because the members seem to enjoy all the beeps, screams, and laughing in I.N.E.E.L.

RIFLE

The Perfect Shot

On Tuesday and Thursday mornings you will find Mr. Biggs and 21 students in the Nielson gym. Through January and March they practice at 6:45 a.m. all of them bearly awake and they are holding air rifles!

The team has grown from last year's nine to this years 21! "It's really exciting to see this much participation!" Mr. Biggs said. So why do people join the rifle team? Kameron Johnson and CeJay Golightly said, "We are going to be snipers when we grow up!" Blake Gilbert joined because, "In junior high I had nothing to do in the winter, and rifle sounded like fun, so I joined and I've just stayed with it!" Shaylee Carter along the same lines said, "I've been in it two years, and I plan to stay in it!" Some people also are in it for other reasons including scholarships, some colleges have been known to pay 1/2 tuition to good rifle shooters.

Being on the rifle team means practicing so they can go to competitions. But Mr. Biggs said that more importantly each person is safe and improving. And if each person's score improves then the winning will come.

ARCHERY

Set Our Sights

If you drive out toward West Side, you will pass a long, narrow, gray building with the words Bear River Archers printed across the wall. On Thursdays after school, seven Preston students along with Mr. Buys get together to practice shooting their bow and arrows. These few people make up the Archery team.

In Archery, the members don't go to competitions or turn in their scores to compete with others. The only person they shoot against is themselves. So they improve as long as they work hard. Which is good news for Jimmy Golightly, a Junior, he is learning patience, "One time I shot too early, the arrow hit the floor, bounced up and hit the wall!"

Others are practicing for other reasons. Adam Whitmore, a sophomore, said "I joined to get better at shooting my bow, because I like to hunt anything that moves, that includes bear and elk." While others are in to improve themselves, others are forced into it. Heather Buys, Mr. Buys' freshman daughter said, "My dad made me join, and I made Nikki!" Nikki Jensen tells another tale, "I started when I was 5, I've just kept it up!" But only one person sums up in one sentence why to join up for Archery. Mr. Buys, The advisor said, "Mainly its just fun!"

Mark Sharp

"I enjoy shooting my bow!

Jimmy Golightly

"I like to shoot my bow and arrow, and being competitive!"

Derik Atkinson

"I ain't in any other clubs, so I'm in Archery."

Causing stress & anguish after "Centuries of Living"

From the first grade up to grade twelve, there are certain people who not only cause stress and anguish in our lives but have also taught us many valuable lessons that will stay with us throughout our future.

Sometimes we cause them stress. Just to have a student like them when they were in High School is enough anguish; however, "To walk into a room to teach 30 Emery Winward clones," would cause Mr. Sessions great stress. Whoa!!!

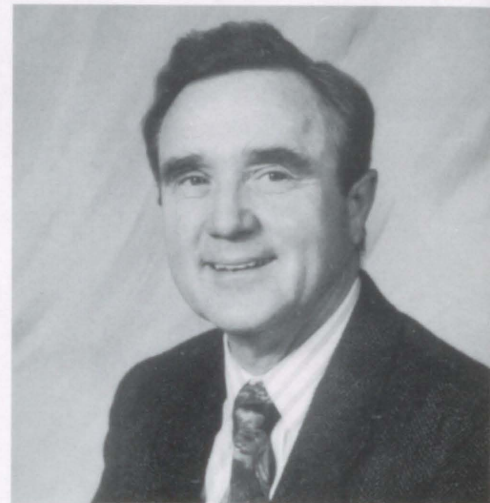

Sometimes teachers cause each other stress. For Mr. Klinke it would be, "to make Mrs. Cattani angry!" Other teachers may stress about actually growing eyes in the back of their head, since it has been said so many times by Mrs. Kluss.

If teachers were to be under the stress of being president, how do you think they would handle it? Most teachers said that they would restore integrity to the White House and its presidency, but Mr Roberston, on the other hand, would paint the White House camouflage.

Many also said that they would get pay raises for the teachers, but if you were like Mr. Gunter, you could just make Preston the capitol and then everyone could get a pay raise.

Robbie Gunter has brought a refreshing playfulness to the PHS faculty. His ability to relate with and get the best out of the students is just one of his and many other faculty members strengths. Robbie demonstrates to Jared McKenzie that he is superior. (Photo by: Mike Hansen)

This year we are adding a new brick to the foundation of PHS by putting the faculty where they belong---with the students! The faculty members can be located in correspondance of what they teach in the Academics Section! We hope this change will be pleasing for everyone!

Only Time Will Tell!

— The Y2K Bug —

It is now 1999. The countdown has begun. The world as we know may change. As it gets closer to the year 2000 we hear more and more about the Y2K. Many of us depend on computers and other technology in our everyday lives. "The year 2000 is coming . . . Oh my!" All of us have had to become familiar with the Y2K. Many businesses have come up with solutions to this potentially devastating problem. As members of society, we must form our own opinions and solutions to problems, so we asked the technology and computer classes at Preston High their opinion and any solution they could come up with. Jared Ross has a fairly easy sounding plan, "Upgrade everything, then play it by ear, who knows what'll happen!" Kellie Tobler has heard lots of rumors about the Y2K and she doesn't like a lot of them. Her opinion? "Obviously someone wasn't doing their job or this wouldn't be a problem!" Chiara Crosland's thoughts are that everyone is making it "a bigger problem than it really is. It'll all probably blow over." To Tosha King the 'millenium bug' isn't something she worries about. "They should have been smart enough to fix it before it became a problem." Finally, Jessy Olsen comes up with a different solution, she thinks that, "although nothing too major will happen, we should definitely be prepared. But, if power, heat, and all that other stuff does fail, I suppose I'll make the sacrifice to let my boy keep me warm and entertained." What the year 2000 will bring we can't predict. As for the 'millenium bug' and it's potential disasters, only time will tell.

So Many Memories...

— So Little Time —

From egg-dropping contests in Physical Science to the various dissections in Biology, and to memorizing the elements in Chemistry, the Science classes at PHS offer a variety of experiences for teenagers. Everyone has their favorite story. Kristen Fannesbeck, for instance, will always remember when Mr. Buys told them a joke about hormones. In Sara Kay Westerberg's Consumer Economics class they were taking a True/False quiz. "Mr. Klinke guaranteed us that at least one of these answers were true. When asked, he then told us that he could not guarantee that any of the answers were false."

All of us who have taken Chemistry have a favorite story about Mr. Bill. "We were talking about being in a spaceship for a long time and who we would take with us. Mr. Williams decided he would take 'her and her and her and her . . .oh, and my wife,'" remembers Jennifer McBratney.

Jenni Beckstead remembers something that happened to one of her friends, "One time Mr. Higley tripped on a bookbag near Amanda Heusser and said, 'Oh, I almost fell for you!' None of us will ever forget the fun times we have had in high school. Years from now when we are all reminiscing about the 'good ol' days' someone will bring up the time when Mr. Bill told us all about water skiing with the various students in his classes. Thanks for all the memories!

Close Your Eyes and Imagine

— A Dot! —

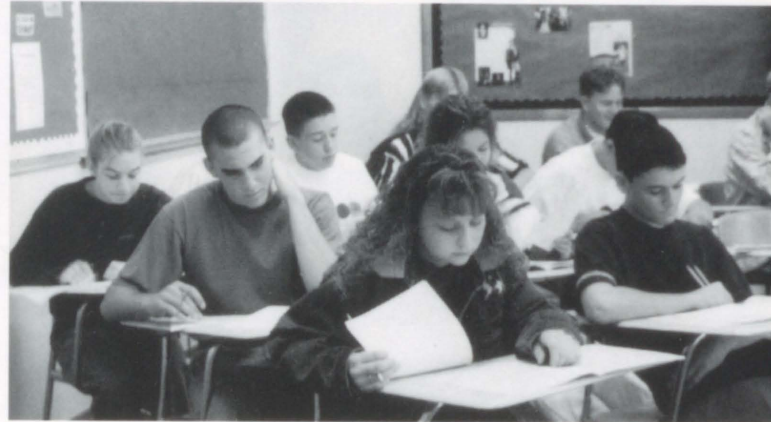

When asked to creatively describe a dot, most students draw a blank. The majority would spend a couple of agonizing moments, come up with an answer full of mediocrity then move on. All of us have experienced the dreaded moment in English when we are asked to pretend we are trees and describe our feelings and surroundings. So, we asked the students at PHS how they reached their personal creative peak. Andrew Murdock gets his creative juices flowing by drawing on the desks. Megan Gleason uses her childhood to help her be creative, "I think about things I did when I was younger. If they present any sort of amusement for me I use different characters with a slightly different spin. It seems to work pretty well." Being an expert on science fiction, Dean Krambule just uses the basic ideas of science fiction to stimulate the creativity deep inside him. Jessy Olsen uses concepts she learned in 7th grade creative writing, "When I can't think of anything to write, I write 'I can't think of anything to write' until something comes to me." Finally, Ellen Johnson says, "I look at a picture of Trevor Jensen!" That must be all she needs to become motivated. Whatever it is that helps students at PHS be creative, it is working!!

So Much To Remember

— So Little Room! —

Contrary to popular belief, high school is not just for the development of social skills. Sometimes we learn things that will help us in our adult lives. Government, History, and Social Studies can teach many important things that we will need to know once we are on our own. Jenni Heusser now knows "how many flowers I can draw during one class period". You'll definitely use that, Jen. Katie Fellows is obviously in Mr. Christensen's class because she, "knows everything there is to possibly know about the 55 fat cats." Anyone who has Mr. Shumway for a history class has learned, "that the U.S. in the 'Big Dog' of the world", says Andrea Tobler.

Andy Lyons has learned, "how the government can just take away basically anything they want to with 'just cause'. I have learned everything I know during Mr. C's long lectures. I try to listen . . . well, I mostly listen anyway." Amanda Heusser has learned how to stay physically fit while learning about the government. "I strengthen my arm muscles without breaking a sweat by throwing notes across the room." Although it may sometimes seem like all we do as students is have fun, the teachers we have had throughout our high school careers have taught us so much. Not just about the way the government works; but about our lives.

When Disaster Strikes

— foreign language helps —

Helfen, Ayuda, Au secours, Help! Early on in the year a devastating hurricane hit Honduras, killing thousands and leaving all destitute. After hearing about this the German, French and Spanish clubs jumped in to action. They had a drive. Over the course of three weeks, these clubs brought in food, clothing, and medical supplies by the boxes. Of the experience, Jason Abrams says, "All the clubs were unified and we kicked butt collecting for Honduras." Lucinda Sharp agrees with Jason by saying, "Knowing that it was going to someone who could really use it was definitely the best!". Nate Fuller really got into the spirit of things. His fondest memory from this experience? "I got out of class and, oh, yeah, we helped those one people." Annette Gleason really got a lot from helping out. "I really loved getting together with the other clubs to do this. The funnest part I think though, was loading it all into the truck. We made this huge line and every other person faced each other. It was really funny when we got going fast, because some of the girls started freaking out." Angelie Christensen summed up the experience by saying, "It was a lot of fun, for a good cause, so many people showed up and helped out. It was great!" Regardless of what language a person speaks, helping one another out unifies people from all over.

Are we ever gonna use this stuff?

$$2x + 3y = (x-y)^2$$

"Students, turn your books to page 234. Today we will be learning the distance formula . . ." Eyelids droop, eyes glaze over, heads begin to hang listlessly. It's the beginning of yet another day of lectures in Algebra II. To most people, Math is a four letter word, but the concepts a teenager learns in the various math classes taught at Preston High can be used throughout their lives. Jon Rasmussen, for instance, will use the quadratic formula to balance his checkbook. Everyone knows how complex after school jobs can be and Chris Gamble plans to use advanced concepts of Algebra II and Geometry at Big J's by "folding and cutting angles out of tortillas and while I refill bins of cheese and lettuce I substitute them for x and y". Cathie Owen plans on using simpler math skills, she says, "I will use add, subtract, times, and divide - BUT I am sure that is where it will end." Scott Flippence says the concept he learned that will help him most is "the answers are all written on the heater in the back of Mr. Golightly's room".

When you hear the words "math nerd" a certain picture comes to mind. For most people, a description of Steve Urkel sufficed. Marybeth Westerberg's characterization of a math nerd was simple, "Mathematically UNchallenged!" Shanna Jensen's depiction of a nerd include "those who try to solve all things mathematically." Stacey Bobka said people who enjoy math are "having more fun than we are". Megan Henrichs added her insight to the perfect mathematician, "About 5'6", brown eyes, brownish-blond hair, male . . . in other words, Serge Ballif." Laci Lewis thinks a math nerd would be someone "stressing over a test that they got a B on." Jennifer McBratney says that a "person who doesn't understand anything without an equal sign in it" definitely has the symptoms of a math lover. Finally Serge Ballif says, "Their IQ is more than their weight." Hey, Serge, how much do you weigh again?

"Um, Mr. Golightly, I think my book has a mistake. It doesn't really want me to find the answer to that problem does it?" Nick Tanner, like many other students, is getting assistance from the teacher on his assignment. (Photo by: Tate Castleton)

Let's Get Physical!

— Pump It Up! —

"Mirror, mirror on the wall, who's the best looking, strongest, healthiest, and most physically fit of them all?" Staying healthy and appearance is important to most high school students. At PHS there are many different classes you can take to improve your health. Among them are P.E., Health, and Weight Lifting. Everyone remembers recess, and the fun games we played. When asked what grade school games should be incorporated into their physical education. Patrick Bodily thinks, "if we had tether ball in P.E. it would strengthen our hand-eye coordination, not to mention assist us in developing our social skills." Some people will use any excuse to sluff and one of them is Mike Knapp. "We should play hide and seek, with school excused absences. Let's just say they'd never find me." Jon Gleason remembers, "the parachute game. It's a game for all ages, not just 'younguns'". "Four square would be fun not to mention the fact that I was good at it," is Devin Packer's opinion of games that should be introduced into the P.E. classes.

Mrs. Moser's health class has become famous throughout high school. From the "Miracle of Life" video to her coming out and saying the evil three letter word. But, for some students getting teachers off the subject is an art. Erin Parker simply states that, "We just let Emery Winward loose. He's a one man class diversion." Chauncy Call has perfected ruining Mrs. Moser's train of thought. "I just think up a question that only has a little to do with what she is talking about. One time we were talking about CPR so I asked how a blonde can give CPR. Suddenly, instead of learning she's telling us stories that are completely unrelated to what she started with."

Cooking is our Specialty

— Salt & Kool-aid? —

"Okay, maybe if we add some fresh raspberries to this frosting it will turn out okay." All of us have had our experiences with cooking; some of them good. But for a lot of us our first, second, or fifteenth time wasn't that great of an experience. In Mrs. Erickson's classes, cooking is a part of the course. We wanted to know what their biggest cooking disaster was. Jami Wardell freely admits her cooking faults but brings a couple others with her as well. "In Teen Living I cooked with Mark Sharp and Matt Wilson. Need I say more?" Obviously not, because she didn't. Lucinda Sharp, the FCYL club president, made a common mistake. Instead of sugar in a pitcher of Kool-aid she put salt. Hey, anyone could confuse the two! Robert Burbank tried to make "No-Bake cookies" and put a whole cup of vanilla in them. I bet that was tasty. BJ Hollingsworth was warming up a burrito and "I accidentally left the foil on when I put it in the microwave. It started on fire." That was bright, BJ. Regardless of how many times you mess up, just keep on cooking, perhaps one day it will pay off.

Influential Advice

— Inspiring Thoughts —

People are influenced by many things; peer advice being one of the most effective. Knowing that there are some aspiring artists out there, we asked the experts what advice they would give to someone just starting out. Natalie Hart's advice is simple, "Don't give up. It might just turn out okay." Something Erin Parker has learned that has proven to be priceless is, "If all else fails, shrink the borders!" Brinna Winward has learned that to be successful in the colorful world of art is, "Make sure you have enough erasers!" Linda Gneiting says, "Always meet the person you will be learning from." Finally, Kristi Abrams says, "Draw things that interest you. If I try to draw something I'm not into it doesn't work out." There is some great advice that can be applied to all of us, so whether you draw or play sports remember: If at first you don't succeed, try, try again!

Field trips are popular with high school students. Whether it is a trip to the Utah State library or a walk around the block, we will do anything to get away from the monotony of classrooms, books, chalkboards, and desks. Mr. Crossley's agriculturally inclined students have taken trips to many different places, most recently Kansas City. We asked what their favorite part of the FFA trip to Kansas City was. Stefanie Stone's reason. Two words: "HOT GUYS!!" Tyson Bowman "learned a lot of stuff about agricultural industries that will be beneficial to me later in my life." Johnathan Fellows was thoroughly entertained by Mike Eldridge and his Batman impression. Bill Miller will never forget Kansas City, but for some reason he won't tell us why!

A Good Mechanic Always...

For some reason unbeknownst to most girls, guys have a thing for cars, trucks . . . anything with wheels and an engine. Sometimes it seems that "numero uno" on their priority lists is the "car". Family, friends, school, and significant others come in at a distant second. What is it about engines that are so fascinating? We may never be able to answer the question but we will know which part of a vehicle these boys enjoy taking apart the most. For Ryan Swainston it would be the engine because he loves "making the most horsepower possible so I can gun the engine." Jessie Smith loves to take apart the motor because "it is the heart of a car." Kyle Tripp says he likes to disassemble the air conditioner. "If you rupture it, you get freon in your face". As much fun as that sounds, I think I'll stay away from that part of the car. Sam Hardman's favorite part of a car is a super charger. He enjoys assembling it because "it makes a car speed up faster." I guess that comes in handy for drag racing, right, Sam? One day we, as the female gender, may understand why cars are exciting, but for now, we'll just stick to driving.

Explosive Tendencies

Wrong Wires

Televisions, radios, microwaves, heaters, automatic can openers, and telephones, These machines can all be classified under the heading of electronics. Because these things make life much simpler, we should thank those who invented them and even more so those who are able to repair them. Even electronic geniuses can have an off day, though, so we asked the students in the electronics classes if they've ever blown anything up. Clayton Kerr has had his fair share of explosions but not with electronics. He says "The only thing I've ever blown up is fireworks." Dixon Stokes took the lead from a motor and stuck it in a wall socket. Needless to say there were some fireworks then! Lucas Beckstead sacrificed himself for his project, he not only got quite the shock, but he blew up his strobe light along with it. Syd Seamons answered with a question of his own, "What haven't I blown up?" After some of the experiences, I think I can offer some advice of my own: If you ever see any of these boys wiring something there is only one thing you can do . . . RUN!!!

It looks like we caught Ben Parker having a special moment with his newest creation in Woodshop. He looks like he is oh-so lovingly sanding the door to his night stand. (Photo by: Rosanna Pitcher)

Watch Out For That Nail

Accident Prone

A siren sounds. No, that is not the new bell it is an ambulance speeding toward the Woodshop building at Preston High. Working with all those high-tech not to mention sharp, machines can be dangerous for some kids. Anthony Goodwin, for instance, drilled halfway through his finger with a  $\frac{1}{8}$ " bit. Having a similar experience, Melissa Taylor says "I was drilling a door on and missed the screw and it went into my hand." "Slivers" is the worst injury David Noble has had to endure. Kelly Griffin's memory is a bit more painful, "Boe shot me with the nailer." Finally, sometimes these experiences can ruin a project. Chris Gamble says, "There was too much air pressure and I shot a nail clear through my project". Oops!! Whatever you may doing or building, please be careful, the emergency room is expensive.

It's a good thing that Nate Burbank can fit in the space he is measuring. How else could he check and re-check his measurements and make sure everything will fit when he's done? (Photo by: Rosanna Pitcher)

Movies!

Favorites on the Big Screen!

Most high school students have a summer job. Usually these wages make enough to last the entire year. Halfway through the year, most teenagers are noticing there funds are getting a bit low. Where did all the money go? When there's not much else to do most minors take a trip to the movie theater. So, what was once a good sum of money is now dwindling in memory, any teenager has their favorite movie.

Brian Andrews states, "While You Were Sleeping" is my favorite. I like how it was set up, the jokes, and the plotline." The hottest actor or actress can draw the biggest crowd. Alison Bobka enjoys watching, "Man from Snowy River," because the guy is hot and it's about horses!" Cody Chatterton thinks that "Titanic" will definitely go down in history, because "the girl is gorgeous." Derik Atkinson thrives on the show, "8 Seconds" because it is based on a true story. That is understandable, since he is a cowboy and cowboys love those westerns!

Megan Gleason shared her favorite, "Seven Brides for Seven Brothers, this show does not contain blood and guts in it and it is not like any modern day movie. It is a show that is very entertaining for all of those people who love music!" Dayne Corbridge would pay again and again to see, "Waterboy, I just like Adam Sandler, he does everything wrong, and is always in trouble and stupid!"

Once a movie has achieved the #1 spot in your mind, it is hard for another movie to replace it, but that doesn't stop anyone from trying new ones out!

Did I miss out on the Holidays?!

Whether it is a warm tingling feeling, presents, candy, excitement or just being thankful for the time away from school, holidays are different from just another day in the year. Some of the holidays really stand out in the minds of the PHS students.

Cameron Dockstader commented that he likes, "Christmas, because of all the love and selflessness, a visit from Santa is nice too." Christmas is also filled with traditions. Rosanna Pitcher loves running in the snow bare foot, and you can find Jennifer Phillips in the snow, too; up in the mountains picking out the per-numerous other students, is just satisfied with the great quantity of food.

Chiara Crosland a proud lover of Halloween, "When else can you dress weird and get free candy?" Jenni Beckstead just anticipates each and every holiday, "I know that with any holiday there is a big family feud just waiting for us at the ol' Beckstead homestead."

Mary Winn has a favorite holiday on one condition: "Valentine's Day- if you have a boyfriend!" Bill Geddes replied, "The Fourth of July- due to the extravagant events!"

Throughout the year, many holidays are celebrated, and even if the current one isn't your favorite, fun times are always there to be had!

Lockers: Personalized to fit you!

What is so great about your locker? Perhaps it is the location. Some underclassmen are fortunate enough to be right in the middle of the action. Others find themselves shoved aside on the stairs or in the side hallways.

A locker is probably the only piece of school property that you can personalize. We asked several sophomores and juniors what makes their locker unique, or just special to them.

Beth Bosworth keeps a clothes pin on a magnet in her locker so that her friends can leave her notes.

Rory Roberts has one of the oddest items in his locker. "I burned incense once just for the fun of it." Decker Geddes has a bottle collection, "I have around twenty-five bottles. Books on one shelf

Need anything? From a curling iron to makeup and perfume, but no plumbing or a bed!!

- Rauli Wortham

and bottles on another one." Natalie Foster thinks of practical things, "I keep a gigantic box of tissues because I am the one who always has a cold!" Kevin Christensen keeps a 9 millimeter wrench in his locker. Why? Good question, he doesn't know the reason either.

Stefanie Stone's locker changes with the seasons. "During softball season I keep metal and other items that have to do with softball. I guess it just keeps me psyched." Jeff Oliverson said, "uh....scripture pages...okay I'll admit it, I have women in swimsuits!" No wonder he is tardy for every class!

No matter what is in your locker, or perhaps what isn't in your locker, it is still yours and that gives you the right to personalize it.

Class is in session! Jed and Matt Webster did not have enough time to finish their lunch, they are not prepared for their class, and the tardy bell rings as they rush to their lockers. (Photo by: Tate Castleton)

Attention!

Are dress codes changing?

Uniforms are common among soldiers in the army, athletic teams, police officers and yes even schools. Uniforms in school settings are on the rise. Here's what some PHS students think about the touchy subject of uniforms in the school system.

Tiffany Early is completely against the idea of uniforms, "I think that it is a terrible idea. The clothing a person wears is an expression of who they are; uniforms would take that away." Josie Orozco agrees because, "the way people dress brings out their true personality."

Jordan Cox has the right idea when he replied, "Basically, it would take away our freedom."

Some students, however, can see some

"People could no longer be judged for the way they dress!"

- Kim Larsen

advantages of having uniforms. "Why not? They can do some good!" Andrea Combes thinks uniforms are good for big schools, "They help stop gangs." Janis Larsen and Eric Rasmussen would both like uniforms. They both agree on their answer, "It would be just fine to put it very simple." Ashley Harris says uniforms would be fine with her too, "I hate to shop anyway." "Uniforms would help unite PHS students," was the comment from Holly Oliverson.

Dress codes at high schools are changing. They are getting more specific and inflexible. With or without uniforms, students will always find ways to express themselves as an individual.

Twins!

Mirror images!! A trick!!

Having a sibling in high school that remotely resembles you can be very frustrating. Teachers and even friends can get confused. Imagine having a twin. For years people try to keep the two of you straight. A phrase heard most often is, "Oh, yeah, you're the twin with the..." Those of us without a 'mirror image' can't even comprehend what it would feel like to have one.

We wanted an inside peek into the minds of these twosomes -- what it's like to be a twin, etc. After talking to the twins at PHS the realization set in that being a twin isn't all that great! Taggart Castleton announces, "My parents al-

"I absolutely hate being a twin because I always get the same gifts as my brother!"

- The Smith Twins

ways take his side of an argument. The fighting and jealousy is the worst." Tate Castleton replies, "Taggart does favors for me and I gladly return the favor." There isn't a bad part to being a twin, it also comes with a good part in life.

Sarah and Laura Hover like being twins because there is always someone you can talk to and who understands you.

Janice and Jennifer Noyes add that being a twin also gives you a best friend that you can always count on. They are ALWAYS there for you no matter what! Even though these students are a twin they have their own opinions and in reality the other is a totally different person. Don't expect them to be someone they are not.

Advice: Ask your fellow students!

Welcome to PHS! A place where people help each other. A place where advice is given. All you've got to do is ask. Everyone has a different view of the world and is willing to share it. We, as Preston High Indians, all have a personal motto; a few words to live by. Here are just a few of these inspiring words.

Emily Phillips proves her well-known optimistic point of view by her simple statement, "you're never fully dressed without a smile." Andrew Orton stands at an overwhelming five feet three inches tall and his answer to any height jokes is, "the bigger they are the harder they fall." Ronnie Ward who is number ten on the basketball team says, "for some people, heaven is only ten feet high!" (ten feet is the height the basketball hoop is set at.)

Everyone knows Lucas Beckstead as the guy with the cowbell on his backpack, but few people know that he can give expert advice such as, "If you build it they will come." What some deep advice. Stephanie Womack continues the trend of movie line mottos and says, "Stupid is and stupid does!"

All in all the students at PHS are willing to share their point of view. For the most part, they usually have something relevant to say. Advice is an easy thing to give but choose what you use wisely.

Classified: For your eyes only.

Have you ever had something to say that you had to say and it just could not wait for the bell? Note passing is a perfectly acceptable form of communication; too bad the teachers don't see it our way.

When asked how many notes on average she passes, E'leesha Benson says, "One. I have to pass at least one note a day." Rhonda Priestley seems to have a slightly larger note passing addiction. "Sometimes I pass four or five notes a day. Answers need to be given and plans need to be made." Tyler Atkinson smiles, "Note passing is a two way street, you write me, I'll write you. Simple!" Why not wait for the bell? Abbie Smedley says,

"When you need to talk you just need to talk. But, most teachers get would mad if you yelled out in class, so passing notes is a clever alternative." Tara Egbert said, "I have lots of stuff to say!" Andrea Combes says, "I like to pass notes when I know what to write." Janita Goodsell agrees and says, "I never know what to write in a note, but I always love to get them!" As long as the teacher doesn't get a hold of your private information, go for it.

Some people just can't find a use for note passing. Getting the information across vocally is just as easy and "hey, save a few trees!" Dan Beckstead says, "Just shout it and get it out in the open!"

The name of the game is "chugging", and it's a race to the finish. Jake McNeely might beat Jen Fuqua in the drinking part, but Jen should get the award for "Best Manners." (Photo by: Tate Castleton)

"Uh, this isn't what it looks like. I promise I have permission to go in this room!" Jordan Kerr tries to look innocent, but we aren't fooled! (Photo by: Tate Castleton)

Registration can come at inconvenient time for some people. Marybeth Westerberg and Lana Winward were either at volleyball practice or out running. Then again, maybe they just got out of bed. (Photo by: Rosanna Pitcher)

Freshmen:

A year to remember!

The bell rings as the assembly ends, all the other students leave the auditorium. Only the freshmen are left behind all alone just to be initiated. For most, the first year of high school, whether good or bad, will never be forgotten!

Kristen Fannesbeck wishes she were a freshmen again and says, "When you're a freshmen you can act stupid and no one really cares." Mary Winn agrees and says, "Freshmen always have the perfect excuse: 'I'm a freshmen!'"

Katelyn Ballif loves being a freshman, because she's away from the little kids at the junior high. Josh Abrams has one really fond memory of his freshman year.

I wish I were still a freshmen, it was so easy then!

-Zeb Petterborg

"The wonderful bliss of Mr. Derricott's class- who can forget Word Whiskers?"

Not everyone enjoyed their freshman year, however. Eric Burbank says, "I only have one year left and I'll be a senior; who would want to be a freshman again?" Tonia Rawlings is more than satisfied that she is a senior- when she was a freshmen she had to put up with her older brothers. Callie Moser can breathe much easier now that she is a junior, and hence, an upperclassmen. "I lived in constant fear that one day, I would run into a Senior, and she would drag me into the bathroom and beat me up."

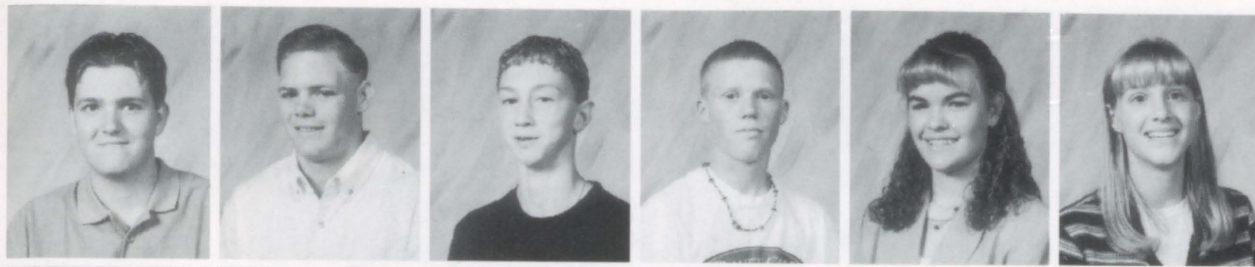

Melissa Bowles is well-aquainted with singing solos. She has gotten to the point where she shows absolutely no fear or hesitation at all. (Photo by: Tate Castleton)

Fake Baking: The cancer booth!?

Summer is approaching very quickly. Many of us are not prepared to go make our debut resembling an albino. Do you go to the tanning beds to darken your skin? Some people make it a competition with their friends to see who can get the darkest at one point during the summer!

"I have an uncle who has to go to the tanning beds because of his skin disease," Racheal Burbank says, "and, it may be unhealthy, but it benefits him." Ask Jordan Kerr what he thinks, and you might get an earful you're not quite prepared for. "I don't understand why my sister wastes her money laying on her lazy @$*% in the tanning booth to get a tan in the middle of the summer. She could get a tan while working a little and it would not cost her a thing. Whatever!!!"

After going to a tanning booth for so long you start to wrinkle prematurely. "Some people who fake bake start to look like a baseball mitt that hasn't been taken care of!" said Chris Gamble.

Still others are for tanning. "I love a golden tan and you really can't lay out in the winter so I fake bake," said Andrea Young. "I think that if you can tan naturally great. But if you can't, use a tan-in-a-can." said Lucas Beckstead.

One suggestion: for you first fake-baking session, it isn't wise to stay in for more than ten minutes. Unless of course you enjoy resembling a lobster.

The summer sun must be beating down on these juniors a little too hard; Nathan Christensen, McKelly Peart, and Tera Talbot don't look nearly enthusiastic enough to sit on a Homecoming Float. (Photo by: Tate Castleton)

Sleep:

Do you have narcolepsy?

Oh, man, I should have gone to bed earlier last night. I'll just lay my head down for a minute..." The next thing you know, you are staring into a class of strange faces, and the teacher is talking about something you've never heard of. You slept through the bell, and none of your "friends" bothered to wake you up.

Sleeping in class is a common occurrence for high school students so we questioned some frequent classroom snoozers about their sleeping experiences.

"I fell asleep in English once and when I woke up, everyone teased me about snoring!" said Abbie Smedley. "I've only fallen asleep in one class and even then I was so paranoid that I kept waking up." stated Holly Oliverson. "One time, we

I fell asleep in English once, I got teased about snoring!

- Abbie Smedley

were sitting in English and Ami Wilcox was asleep sitting up. Everyone was watching her and just as her head was going to hit the desk, Mrs. Cattani yells out 'Brain break everyone!' It was hilarious," remembers Amber Dockstader.

Some students find it easy to fall asleep in most classes. But in some classes it's a given. Chris Gamble and Melissa Owen both said they fell asleep in Biology a lot, "It is so routine and boring." Trevor Kofoed said, "I usually fall asleep in English, but I can go out like a light in any class!" That's one thing Trevor and Chris Gordon have in common, "English is always hard to stay awake in, I don't know why."

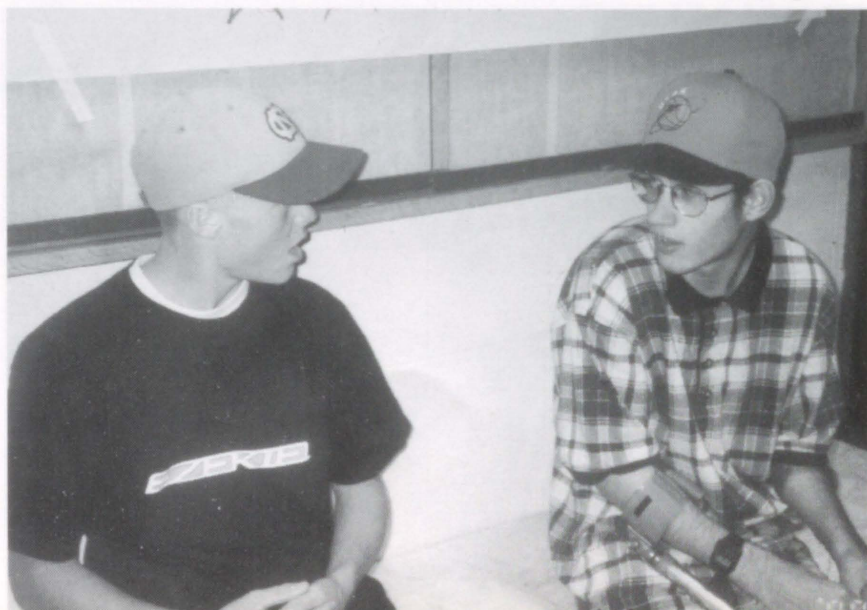

Sleep helps start the next day off, so make sure you get enough sleep!

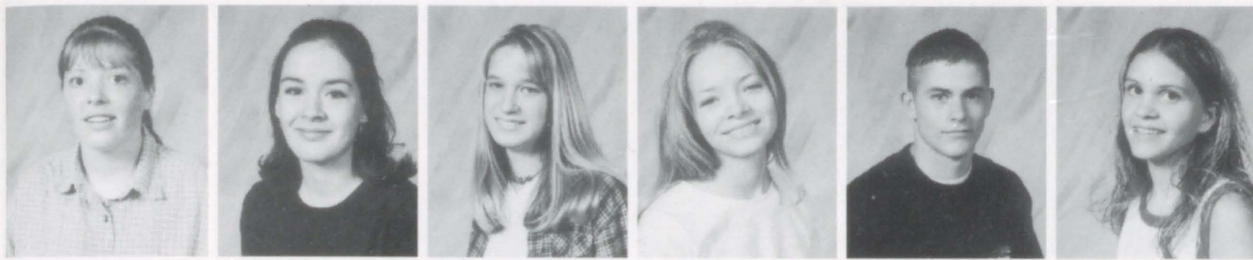

Although the sun is shining brightly, many of these students look very happy to be outside. Maybe they are just sick of waiting for their rides to come and get them. (Photo by: Tate Castleton)

Part of being an older brother or sister includes helping your younger siblings when they reach high school. Shaylee Carter seems pleased to be seen with her older sister, Bartni, but Bartni looks like she wants to do something else. (Photo by: Tate Castleton)

a dating

nightmare

Have you ever dreamed of your ideal date and spoil your sleeping pattern with a nightmare? Either way, you find out the things to do or not to do on a date!

Ryan Swann replies, "DO let your date know she's going before you pick her up. However, DON'T make smart comments to her parents!" Great advice, you might not get a second date if you do that! According to Monique Westlake, "do make it memerable but DON'T over do the cologne!" Take note boys, you might never figure out why the girl is crying! Alisa Hardy replies, "do be polite and don't make the other dates mad and don't ditch them!"

Gus Colin tells us his ideas, "do tell her that your a movie star but don't tell her your a phsycotic maniac who has been stalking her." He also breaks down and tells us one of his secrets, "do tell her that your leaving the country. Also don't tell her that your a polygamist."

Scott Fellows is thinking on a little different note when he replied, "do a little DSA (doorstep action) but please no charity dates!" Keep in mind when doing a little DSA Scott, to take Linda Gneiting's advice, "don't try to kiss with bad breath!" Thinking a little deeper and more seriously, Reese Waddoups told us, "kissing is a do, but birds and bees is a do not!" Perhaps speaking from experience or from deep thought Ashley Carlson said, "don't kiss on first date and definitely don't date someone if they give you the creeps!" Good idea Ashley!

Perhaps we have dreamed these thoughts or just know what we want from one another. We still are the experts on the Do's and Do Not's of dating!!

that no one is watching right before you

a sneaky mission

Sometimes there is a side of us that tends to sneak out when we least expect it and sometimes you get caught! What were you doing when “they” walked in?

Scott Flippence shares this with us. “I was looking at my butt in the mirror just to see what it looked like. I was in the bathroom during class and I pulled down my shorts. Just then, in walks Mr. Robertson. He smiled and walked right on past. I then ran like @#$$%!”

Tonia Rawlings was caught in the privacy of her own home. “I ran downstairs in my underwear because nobody was home but me. As I picked up what I needed I just happened to see Russell Woodward looking directly at me. His eyes nearly popped out of his head to the sight of me!” Tonia then heard him say, “Jeremy, go milk the cows.” She said that he just went back to sleep like nothing had happened. Wasn’t she in for a surprise!!

Keri Hinckley was very embarrassed when a fellow classmate “caught” her! She tells us about it! “Once I had to leave class early and when I was walking back to class I realized that I had a major melvin. So I indiscreetly dug in and started to right the wrong when a voice from behind me said, ‘Ew that’s sick!’ I turned around to see Jason Cox standing right behind me!”

One student was Power breaking his truck in the middle of the crosswalk while Officer Geddes was standing there. Well Ryan Swainston, what was Officer Geddes’ response?

You Know Your A Senior When....

You start to actually care about your grades but know its far to late.

You can throw a freshman in the garbage can or the toilets and get away with it.

Your sitting in Mrs. Cattani's class wondering what the heck she's talking about.

You get more mail in one night then you have got in your whole life.

You can scare lower classmen with just one look. The first term feels like 2 weeks.

Just about every student in our school with a job does not make more than $5.25 per hour. We can work our butts off and have a lot of hours with not enough money. You may make enough to pay a few bills and a little to play with but where do you put it all? What ironic thing would you do for a million dollars?

Kahlid Keller recommends, "tap dance on the top of a grand piano in a TU-TU!" Being on the daring side of things, Nick Anderson said, "I would run naked across the football field in the middle of the game."

Are you ready for a treat PHS? Mindy Smith said, "I'm ready to give a kiss as long as they don't have some kind of virus or disease that is contagious!"

Would you go as far as to cover your body in a avocado sauce and walk around (green and naked) for one week without showering? Write it down Seniors, Gus Colin has given us his word to! Wouldn't you hate to be in the same class as him? Michael Knapp announced that he would "jump into Bloomington Lake during the middle of January with a speed on!" Do you think there will be anything left of these two if they do receive this one million dollars?

Something everyone would want to witness would be to see Brett Reeder ride his motorcycle through PHS Senior Hall! Wonder what Mr. Koch would say to that? Pace Jepsen must have done something really bad because his only response was, "That is none of your business!" John Pariona is going right along with Pace, he replied, "ANYTHING!"

Vince Castillo is a little greedy in his answer when he said, "nothing, if you are offered a million dollars, why not ask for more?"

WHAT? A Senior guy hitting on two underclassmen? Kristen Fonnbeck isn't interested but Katie Fellows is quite intent with what Matt Rassmussen has to say. (Photo By: Rosanna Pitcher)

You have been in school for twelve years and every year you can pick out the students who are the brown nosers, otherwise known as # a teachers

favorite

You walk into third hour, ready to ask your teacher a question before the big test, but as usual, there is that one person who is always at the teacher's desk. Teacher's pets! You just have to bear with them!

Keri Hinckley shares her feelings with us, "A teacher's pet is someone who can call their teachers by their first name and get away with it!" Jenni Heusser was also thinking along those lines when she replied, "Someone who goes out of their way to help a teacher and laughs at every joke they tell, even if they aren't funny!" "Students that stay after class, just to talk!" Tina Jorgensen replied.

Joanna Fuller explains things a little differently, "Nothing, their just some students English teachers don't hate!" Doesn't that have some truth to it! "Turning in your assignment with Apples!" Kahlid Keller responded with a little tradition. Crystal Clements announced to everyone, "Someone who is helpful and participates in class. Brings the teacher pop and candy, basically a brown noser!"

Alisa Hardy said, "buying treats, running places for the teacher, volunteer everytime and someone who can get straight A's!" Johanna Castillo told us straight out that her definition of a teacher's pet is, "Sucking up to the TEACHER 24-7! (Twenty four hours a day)" Some never get tired, do they?

Perhaps speaking from experience, or not, Josh McNeely tells us, "that person is always acting like it wasn't him that was throwing the spit wads!"

Brooke Harrison, Nathan Hess, and Trevor Jensen ponder a minute on their idea to make their window the best. (Photo By: Mike Hansen)

Natalie Foster, Justin Cox, Matt Hess, Gus Colin, Jon Rasmussen, and Scott Holt ride in a Dodge truck during the parade. They look like they are excited to tackle their new jobs for the upcoming school year.

Mary Larson, William Sharp, Gus Colin, Matt Hess, Dave Porter, Natalie Foster, Tera Talbot, Scott Holt, Shelby Schvaneveldt, Jon Rasmussen, Justin Cox, and Landon Bradfield. Not pictured is Brooke Christensen. Their job starts before the school year to make sure that the activities are planned before the students arrive for the year. Being a member of the Exec Council takes a lot of time and effort to represent the student body!

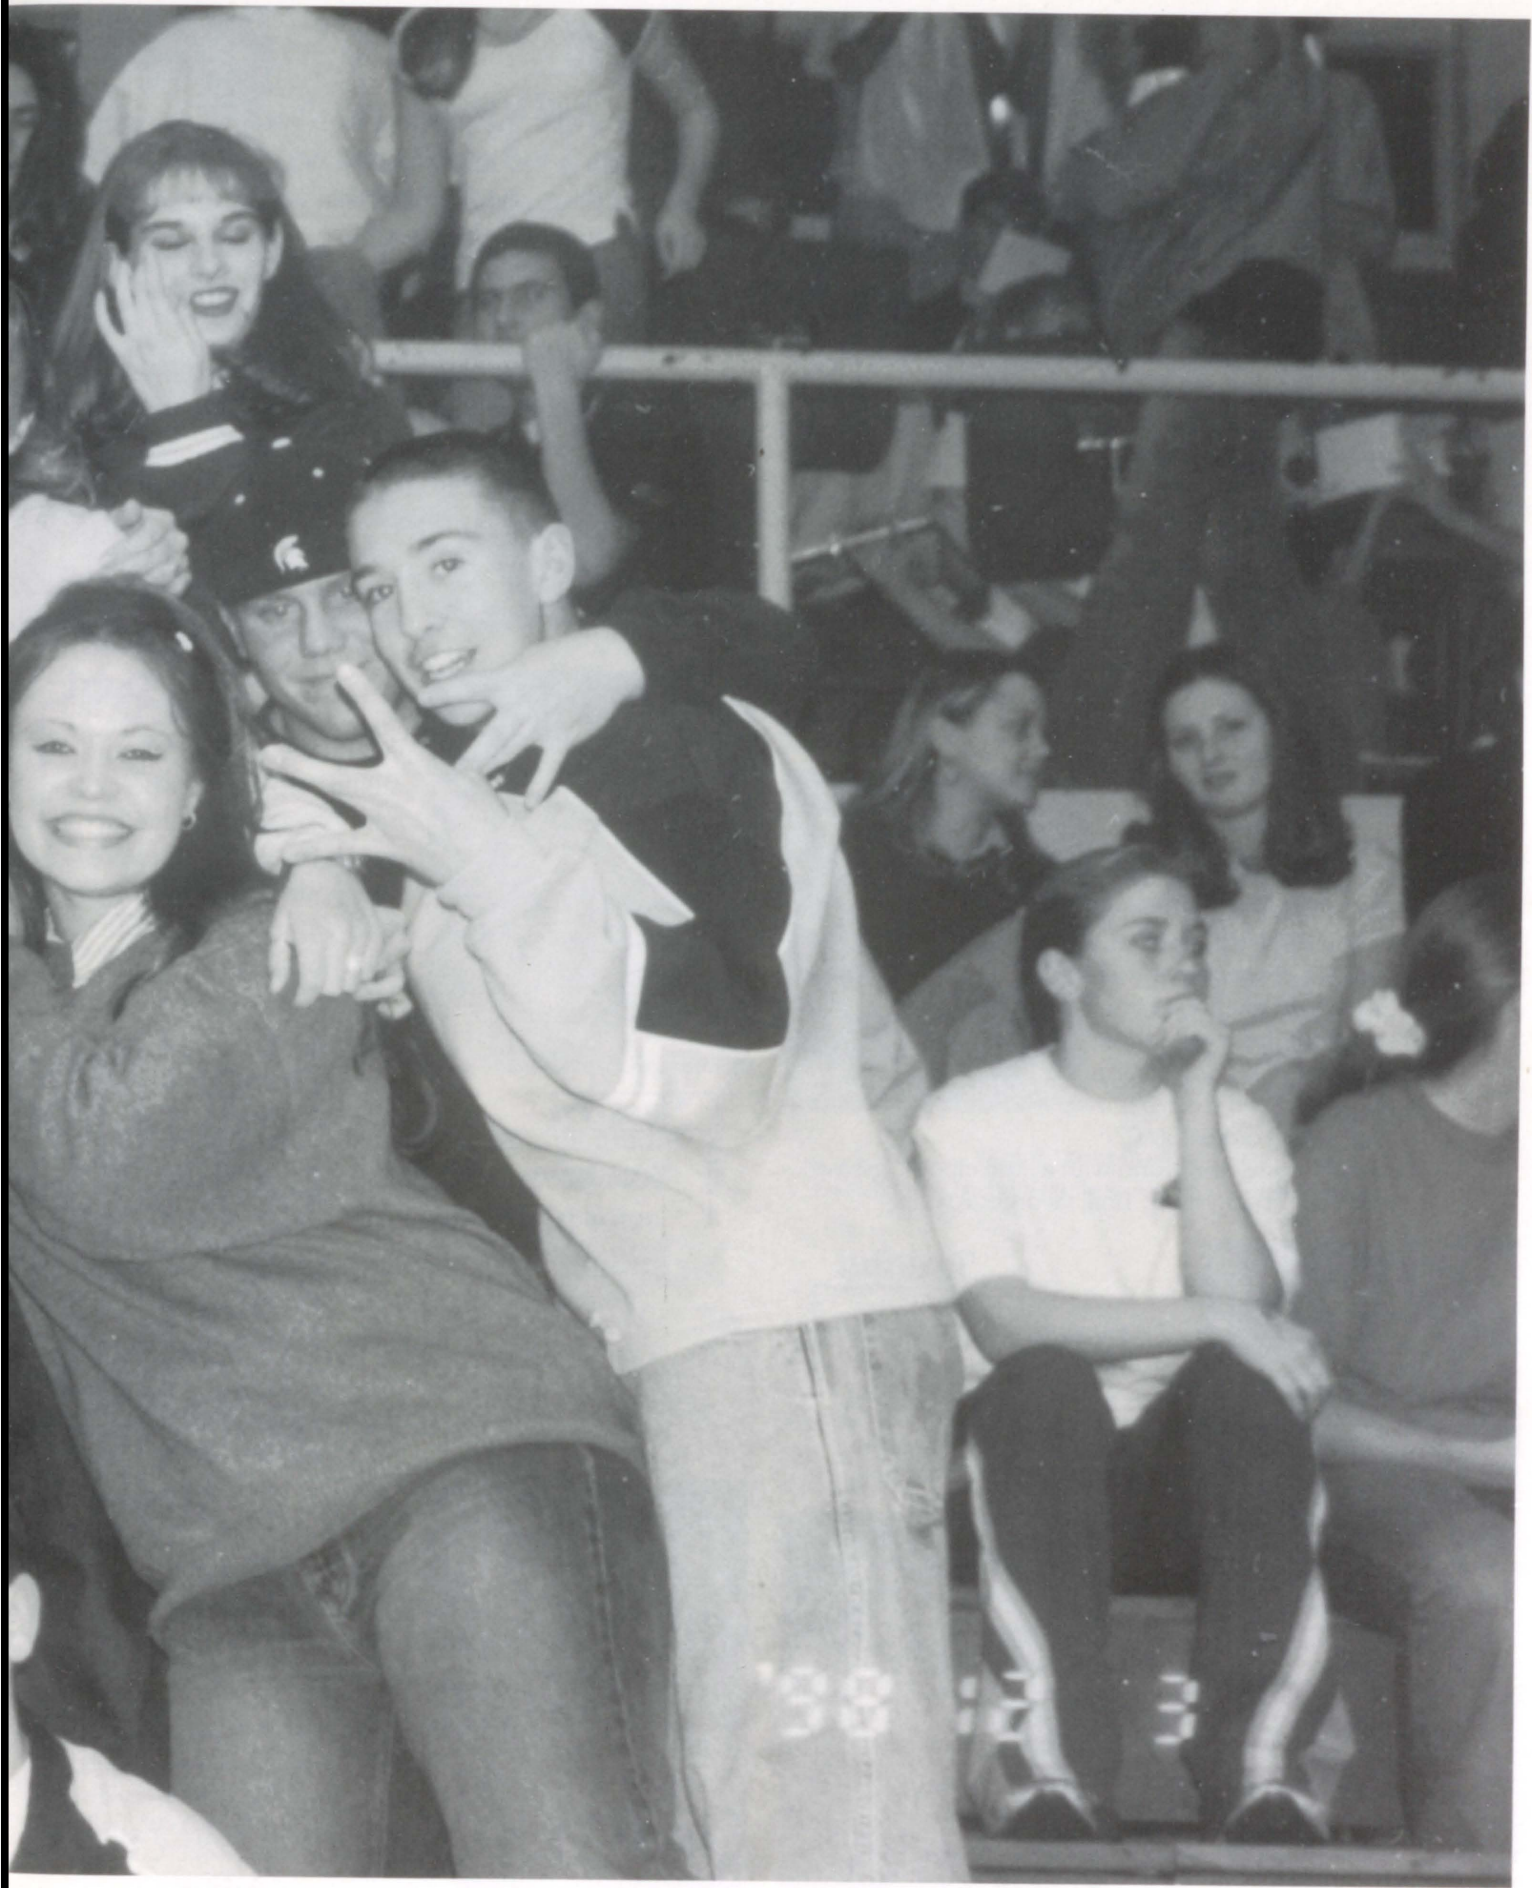

Dave Porter, Shelby Shvananeveldt, Brooke Christensen, Scott Holt, Tera Talbot, Mary Larson, Natalie Foster, and Landon Bradfield gather around their table at the the Olive Garden while they were in Bosie at their State Convention. They look to be just shooting the breeze while enjoying their time away from the stress of school. During the three days they were there, they gathered ideas for more activities to involve the student body.

A big part of the Exec Councils activities are the Tail Gate Parties! Landon Bradfield has his fork ready to kill someone for taking his hot dogs before they were cooked OR he just wasn't listening when Mary told him what to do with it! Listen up Landon!!

Scott

Congratulations Scott! We are very proud of you. You have great potential and we wish you much success in all you do.

Love, Your Family

Brett

You are the light of our lives. Continue to make good choices and you will have success and happiness. We are very proud of you.

Congratulations.
Love: Grandma & Grandpa

Kristi

Keep dancing your way through life and follow your dreams. We're so proud of you.

Love,

Dad, Mom, Jared, Jason, Chad, Cody, and Katrina

Dani

You have the talent and abilities to go far. Set your goals high and reach for the stars. We are your biggest fans and we're behind you ALL the way.

Love, Dad, Mom, Trisha, Andrea, Brittin, Dixon

Kristal

It's "Kristal" clear you're different from all the other girls. From football to mechanics, wearing overalls and curls. Well, now it's graduation and we really wish you luck. They always said your rare to want to lube a truck. What more could any guy ask for than a girl who's smart as she can be. And who knows how to tune an engine, be it Ford or GMC? Go out and "tackle" the world with a little elbow "grease". We Love You, Dad, Mom, Tina, George, & Greg

Jessica

You have warmed our hearts and souls. The whole world is before you! "Shine On"

We Love You: Your Family

Brooke

As you go through life you'll see that there is so much that you don't understand, but just remember...

That love is the reason behind everything God does. We are so proud of you and love just as much!

Love- Dad & Mom, Bracken & Stephanie, Brandi & Ryan, Britny & Bryn

Dennis

We know your aim in life will be as great as your aim with a rifle - always on target and usually a bulls eye! We are happy with all the success you've had so far. Keep shooting straight at your goals, you are a winner!

We Love You,
Dad, Mom, Brad, Toni, Curtis, Andrea & Emily

Andy

Andy "Bud"

Thanks for being a great son, brother and friend. You have all the characteristics to be a success in the game of life and we're excited for you. Remember, "If you snooze...you lose."

Dad, Mom, Jessie & Jamie

Jacee

You never said "I wanna be" So your not a "wanna be" You always said "I'm going to do and going to be". So that's exactly what you're going to be! Love ya Tonz!

Quiver Staff

Editor in Chief / Senior Section -----	Brooke Christensen	Academics & Index Editor -----	Amber Dockstader
Student Life Editor -----	Dawn Hobley	Staff/Administration Editor -----	Mary Winn
Individual Section Editors -----	Holly Oliverson & Mindie Burbank	Advertising Editor -----	Janielle Reese
Sports Editors -----	Amanda Egbert & Jessie Hansen	Student Life -----	Jessy Olsen
Photographer Editor -----	Tate Castleton	Photographer -----	Rosanna Pitcher
Clubs -----	Kristen Fonesbeck	Yearbook Advisor -----	Mr. Mike Hansen

A big THANKS goes to the man that makes it all happen, Mr. Hansen! Anyone who has been in yearbook before knows that the phone hardly ever comes away from his ear except to tell us his joke of the day. We all owe it to him for what he has taught us! (Photo by: Brooke Christensen)

Brooke Christensen, Amanda Egbert, and Jessy Olsen paint the Denim Dinner's front window for school spirit during Homecoming Week. The Yearbook window was placed 2nd in the judging that week. Way to go girls!! (Photo by: Mike Hansen)

The four blondes!! The yearbook staff is "blessed" with four blondes this year. Dawn Hobley, Amber Dockstader, Mary Winn, and Kristen Fonnnsbeck show off their beautiful hair while Tate Castleton is a little concerned with his image by being with them! Needless to say, these four had a hard time while in Sun Valley at the State Convention dodging the blonde jokes that Mr. Hansen loves to tell. (Photo by: Brooke Christensen)

One of the projects that the Photographers did this year was to give the dark room a new look! Here, Tate Castleton rolls out the tape to protect the counter top from getting to messy with his painting techniques. (Photo by: Mike Hansen)

Every year a state convention is held in Sun Valley, Idaho. The staff enjoyed their time away from the stress of deadlines for a short 3 days! In a neighboring town, they stopped for just a minute to leave our trademark in the giant cowboy chair. The entire chair is made from wood with cowboy boots for the leg posts. Amber Dockstader placed Superior Yearbook Copy and Brooke Christensen placed Superior in the Yearbook Layout. Pictured are: Amber Dockstader, Dawn Hobley, Kristen Fonesbeck, Mary Winn, Mindie Burbank, Brooke Christensen, Holly Oliverson, Tate Castleton.

Brooke Christensen appears to have some trouble with her ice skating abilities. She admires the damages and seems embarrassed. Needless to say she was holding onto the bar and still made the graceful fall. Ice Skating is one of the many activities that are available during the Sun Valley Convention.

Brooke Christensen, Holly Oliverson, Laura Oliverson (Chaperone), & Mindie Burbank enjoy their gourmet dinner of Spaghetti and Breadsticks in their condo at Sun Valley. While the other members ate frozen pizza, these guys had the right idea of a balanced meal.

Quiver Memories

After so many hours in the yearbook room you get a little out of it. These two must be in order to use the croppers that way! Dawn Hobley and Amber Dockstader see how their heads would fit in a cropper! Where is the orange cropping pencils to draw little orange dots on their noses?

What does Yearbook actually consist of? For Amanda Egbert it is, "A very good learning experience-it's fun! Only because I love Jessie Hansen!" Janielle Reese describes it as follows, "it's like dancing, but not really. It's almost as if you dance and the music comes from your words!" From Mindie Burbank's point of view it is, "like building a brick wall, but you must build it one brick at a time." Mary Winn has some great advice to future yearbook members! "Procrastination is not the key to being successful in yearbook!" "For anyone considering joining yearbook, just remember that the hardest part is figuring out where the stupid network folder is. After that, yearbook is a breeze!" Kristen Fonesbeck replied. What was it that staff members are looking forward to at the end of the year? Amber Dockstader and Brooke Christensen both agree, "For the time to come when we can move back into our own bedrooms and out of the yearbook room when we graduate!" Dawn Hobley is very confident when she replies, "When students receive the 98-99 Quiver, there will be angels singing from on high and dancing in the street." Enjoy the Quiver!

Jamie Hansen, Brooke Christensen, and Mindie Burbank get involved with the activities at the State Convention in beautiful Sun Valley. They are doing a good job sticking together. Don't they look great?

Looks like Dawn Hobley, Amber Dockstader, & Mary Winn FINALLY found a friend, or perhaps the bear just felt sorry for them! Can you see some resemblance between them all?

Who would want to turn their children loose in city with a chaperone like this one? Ryan Hobley was dragged along to be our bodyguard during our three day stay and look after us to keep us all contained. It looks as if he was the one who got carried away!

Janielle Reese stays busy trying to get her layout finalized before the real deadline comes into affect.

Unity Ball 1998-99

This year, Unity Ball was held in the Utah State University Ballroom. The room was very big and provided plenty of space for dancing, sitting, watching, and having fun! Halfway through the night, everyone at the dance got the chance to experience a false fire alarm. After standing outside for about 15 minutes, students were allowed back into the building to unthaw.

1999-2000 Elections

After a week of sleep deprivation, the candidates are already on edge. With the added stress of the Executive Council delaying the actual announcements, it's a wonder that the candidates don't have nervous breakdowns. As with every year, there are some let-downs but the students of PHS can rest assured that next year's Executive Council will bravely "lead us into the millenium."

GOLF

...Hole in one...

Golf, what a funny name for a sport. We asked the golf teams if they could rename the game of golf what they would name it. Derrick Lyons would name it, "Club Ricochet." Sara Kay Westerberg replied in a little bigger terms when saying "I would call it the hit the ball as hard as you can in hopes that it will go straight in the hole, but really it slices to the right or hooks to the left causing you to throw temper tantrums and create unreasonable stress for yourself which will eventually develop into a traumatic brain lapse and you lose all dignity and pride to some shrink named Bud game."

Cody Bartholme would rename the game, however, leaving it as a four letter word! You must change the letters, because you tend to use the other four letter words a lot more. Adam Whitmore goes into detail when he states, "I would name it a cow pasture pool, because the grass is green and so is a pool table and in both games you try to get a ball in a little hole, and a golf course is like a big pasture." Erin Parker agrees with Cody when she replies, "I think it is appropriately named, but what could be better is just a four letter word. Whatever you want to call it, it's still the same!"

J.D. Seamons crouches down to make sure the ball is in line with the hole before he putts it. J.D. could pass as a Tiger Woods look a like. (Photo by: Brooke Christensen)

The Baseball teams have been through it all this year during their season. When on the baseball team you have to play both individually and for the team. When up to bat it is the batter vs. the pitcher. We asked the baseball team what words of encouragement go through their head, or what do they do to focus on hitting the ball while up to bat. Nick Neeley replied "I think, I just have to get on base." Scott Madsen lets the fans and coaches voices go through his head and the thing that gets him going is Coach Hansen's voice saying "D@#%!$ Madsen, hit the ball." Cory Harris simply tells himself to not mess up. Tyler Smith thinks "just make contact." Taylor Smith reminds himself while up to bat to stay loose and hit the ball. Byron VanOrden lets coach Hansen get to him also when he says, "The glare I get from Hansen is the thing that makes me want to get on base the most." Chad Tueller replies "I think contact. Just pick the ball up out of the pitchers hand and hit it hard somewhere." Kyle Hansen uses the meditation method and pictures himself hitting the ball. Tyler Hatch verbally gets himself motivated by saying to the pitcher "whatever you pitch to me I'm gonna hit it!" And finally some words of advice that Clay Kaufman tells himself that the pitcher doesn't stand a chance.

GIRLS SOFTBALL

...Hit it outta' here...

Practices can sometimes come to the point where it gets boring, and really irritable. So we asked the girls softball team who helped lighten up those times.

Kellie Tobler, Shaylee Carter, and Trista Wanner all agree that Jenny Parker is the one to lighten things up. "She's always positive, full of laughs, and she knows her softball," commented Trista. Kellie said "Jenny, just because she's a nut!" Susannah Philbrick says, "Jenni Heusser, because she's always making me laugh or making fun of Coach Crossley."

"Tina Shaffer, she's always entertaining, has a good attitude, is full of life, and enjoys playing the game." said Jennie Parker, and Michelle Porter. Nikie Galloway says that the person who makes her laugh is Laci Lewis because, "she's always acting kinda ditzzy!" But Laci would have to disagree. She believes that it would be Nikie, "because she's always making silly comments."

Kelsi Bird, Kim Poole, and Shelley Hart have the same person in their minds, and it would have to be Shaylee Carter that makes them laugh, and for three different reasons. Kelsi says so just because she's funny, Kim thinks she's interesting because of all her crazy love life stories. But Shelley Hart said that it would have to be Shaylee "because of the crazy way she plays shortstop."

To end on a more serious note, Afton Hollingsworth said, "Everyone is just so positive; they all make the game fun and exciting!" They must all have pretty good attitudes, because the softball team had a great year, and a lot of fun.

TRACK

...Mark, set, go!...

When your growing up, the person who usually gets you first interested in sports is your father. Since Track isn't really introduced until about seventh grade, we asked team who, or what got them interested in running.

Crystal Golightly says, "I've had fun the other years that I've participated in track. Also, men dig fast chicks!" Maria Seamons is pretty interested in the whole guy thing also. She says, "I'm in track because there's this really hot hurdle boy from Bear Lake!"

When Scott Holt was asked why he joined, he simply replied, "Carson Campbell. He's truly my inspiration! Just to see him run is enough to get me to join!"

MaryBeth Westerberg doesn't do it for the guys, or her friends. MaryBeth does it because she enjoys 'self-inflicted pain'!

"I got into track because girls were chasing me one day, and I realized I was pretty fast," commented Steven Krambule. As for Audrey Golightly, she liked to run when she was small, and her dad kept on encouraging her! Melissa Randal answers the question pretty simple, "My friends!"

When Blaise Burns answered, he said that 'women' got him interested, and the reason why; think about it!?! Brinna Winward commented, "I wanted to be in a sport and I thought running would be good, cuz anyone can run - - little did I know..."

Well, whoever got them interested enough to be on the track team did a good job, because it sure got them motivated to run hard!
